

State Formed to Serve Man, Pope Says in Message

Calls on World Leaders To Establish True Peace

BY FRANK BRUTTO
Vatican City —(P)— Pope John XXIII declared in a Christmas message to the world today that "things and institutions—the state—are primarily for man; not man for them."
 The communist way of life was a target of the 78-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff, though he did not mention communism by name, in a speech devoted to peace and the obstacles in its path.
 Broadcasting a new call for world leaders to fashion a true peace, he said social peace "is solidly based on the mutual and reciprocal respect for the dignity of man."
 "The disturbances which unsettle the internal peace of nations trace their origins chiefly to this source, that man has been treated almost exclusively as a machine, a piece of merchandise, a worthless cog in some great machine, a mere productive unit," he said.
 Truth Vital to Peace
 Obviously referring to President Eisenhower's 11-nation peace tour and other recent international developments, he said "the most recent events have caused an atmosphere of so-called disengagement which has caused hopes to blossom anew in many minds." He described the international basis of peace as "above all, truth."
 The pontiff said the Roman Catholic church "looks with favor on every initiative which can help spare hu-

U. S. May Poll Steel Union

Members' Opinions To be Sought if Deadlock Remains

Washington —(P)— The government poll of Steelworkers on whether they want to accept management's last offer will be conducted Jan. 11-13 if there is no settlement meantime of their labor dispute, it was announced today.
 Stuart Rothman, general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, said the agency is making plans to conduct an election during that 3-day period if necessary but hopes the need for it will be removed by a union-management agreement.
 In other developments:
 1. President Eisenhower, just back from his 22,000-mile good will trip to three continents, held a conference with three cabinet members and four other officials on the bogged down efforts to end the steel dispute.
 2. Union and management bargaining teams met in a session called by the federal mediation service, but without any sign that they were making any progress.
 3. Union President David J. McDonald said first reports from a postcard poll the union is taking of its members are overwhelmingly against accepting the last offer of the steel companies.

Sicily Rocked by Heavy Earthquake

Catania, Sicily —(P)— Strong earth tremors shook the big Italian island of Sicily today, shattering windows and causing thousands of city residents to flee into the streets.
 There were no immediate reports of injuries or major damage, though building cornices were toppled into the streets in Catania.

Iranian Troops Get Ready for Possible Attack

Reinforcements Go To Abadan Region To Face Iraqis

Teheran, Iran —(P)— Iranian authorities today dispatched air and army reinforcements to the Abadan region and placed all armed forces on full alert. They said they acted against a possible Iraqi attack.
 A squadron of jet planes was sent to Dezful air base in Khuzistan province, in which Abadan is located. Abadan is the site of Iran's prime economic asset—the sprawling nationally owned petroleum refineries.
 The Iranian army navy and air force were instructed to be ready to repel assault.
 The Iranians also put artillery, tanks and anti-aircraft batteries in positions on river banks above and below Abadan to protect the vast refineries. The number of tanks or the size of artillery was not disclosed.
 Patrols Increased
 Naval patrols were increased in the Shatt al Arab river, which forms the frontier running northward from the Persian gulf. The river is important to Iranian economy because it provides access to tanker berths at Abadan.
 The refineries formerly run by the British-owned Iran Petroleum company are now operated by an international consortium in which American oil companies have a part.
 Iranians claim Iraq has been violating a 1938 agreement which, they say, fixed the frontier at midstream of the Shatt al Arab, but left maintenance, dredging, and so on in Iraqi hands. The Shatt al Arab is formed by the union of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

Krupp Will Pay Ex-Slave Laborers

Essen, Germany —(P)— The Krupp company, Germany's biggest industrial enterprise, announced today it will pay about 5,000 marks ($1,190) each to all Jewish concentration camp inmates who worked for it as slave laborers during World war II.
 A spokesman said that under an agreement with the conference on Jewish material claims against Germany, which has headquarters in New York City, six million marks ($1,428,000) have been laid aside for the purpose.

Sober, Family Holiday Termed Best Yule by Reformed Alcoholic

BY AN ALCOHOLIC
As told to Charles House
 My best Christmas was my last one. It was the first time in my adult life I was sober on Christmas day.
 Last Christmas I even went shopping for presents for my wife and three daughters. I guess everybody else does that as a matter of course, but it was a new thing to me. I actually thought of somebody else. I actually went out and made purchases for my family.
Third in a Series
 It was a good feeling.
 You know, I always felt bad about my drinking. I think I suffered much of the time almost as much as my wife did all of the time. I condemned myself so often that I was filled with abhorrence for my negligence and my weakness.
Drunken History
 How many Christmases of our married life I spent at home I don't even know. It's safe to say that in 22 years I spent fewer than four Christmas days with my family. And on three of those four days I was drunk and incompetent, or else sleeping off a big one.
 The Christmas days I was away from home I was—well, in places that you wouldn't want to know. Some of them are not known to me.
 A lot of my past Christmases are a blur in my mind. But I remember one Christmas period when I didn't come home for eight or 10 days. I had found a coal bin at a factory in Appleton and I slept there. I had a kind of rug I wrapped around me to keep me from getting too dirty and to keep me warm.
Slept With Bottle
 I had a bottle of red wine at my side so that when I woke up in the night I could have a drink when I needed it. I had to have it. I could never go to sleep without have a bottle next to me.
 I guess the reason I didn't go home is because I knew it was Christmas and I

Travelers Warned Roads in State in Hazardous Shape: Fair Skies for Christmas Day

Four to six inches of snow is expected to fall today and tonight on top of five inches already on the ground in the Fox Cities.
 Christmas, without a doubt, will be white. Winter came up with a counter punch after its mild debut Tuesday and ushered in the season's first real storm.
 The storm is expected to diminish to flurries late today or tonight. The outlook for Christmas day is fair to partly cloudy and continued mild.
Hazardous Driving
 A hazardous driving and heavy snow warnings, have been issued by the state traffic patrol. Holiday motorists traveling anywhere in Wisconsin and neighboring states should be well equipped, including shovels, the patrol said.
 The northeast portion of the state may carry the brunt of snow because of Lake Michigan. Lake breezes mingling with Pacific air aloft will cause more snow here than west or north. The Green Bay weather bureau said.
 Waupaca and Calumet county reported all main roads open. Calumet county highways are dry and clear except for some slipping on side roads, Arthur Schnell, highway commissioner said.
No Difficulty
 Road crews expect no difficulty in keeping roads open. The Appleton street department put its three sanders to work on hills and key intersections early Tuesday afternoon. A full force of workers onto the streets early today to open major thoroughfares. All street department workers were done by noon today, Supt. Reinhold Schulze said.

Closing of Plant Held to be Illegal

Court Rules Minnesota Governor Exceeded Powers

Minneapolis —(P)— Three federal judges ruled today that Gov. Orville L. Freeman went beyond his authority in using national guardsmen to shut down the strikebound Wilson and Company meat packing plant at Albert Lea, Minn. They told the company it could reopen the plant.
 The judges held Freeman had no absolute power to declare martial law at Albert Lea.
 Their ruling barred Freeman and the national guard from interfering with the company's right to have "free and unlimited" access to the plant.
 Declares Martial Law
 The court panel granted a stay of its injunction until midnight Sunday, however, to permit the state an appeal to a U.S. circuit court.
 Freeman declared martial law at Albert Lea Dec. 11 after violence broke out at the plant involving striking pickets and non-union workmen who had been hired by the company to replace them.
 Freeman said he closed the plant to save lives.
 The court told the governor in its decision today he has "no absolute authority to declare martial law."
 "Military rule cannot be imposed upon a community simply because it may seem

15-Year-Old Found Twisted in Coil Of Rope in Barn

Chilton —(P)— Richard Boehnlein, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Boehnlein, route 2, Chilton, accidentally hanged himself while playing in the family barn Tuesday night. Deputy Calumet Coroner Dr. James Knauf has ruled.
 Richard and his brother Paul, 10, were doing the chores about 7 p.m. while their parents were in Sheboygan Christmas shopping. Paul related how Richard started playing with a coil of binder twine tied to a pole.
 Paul went off to feed his calf and when he returned he noticed Richard had become twisted in the 7- to 8-foot length of rope. Unable to free him, Paul went to the house for aid from his sister Susan, 12.
 They were able to free Richard, but they noted he was not breathing and went to the next farm to get help from Roger Thielmann who called the doctor about 7:15 p.m. and tried unsuccessfully to revive the boy.
 Richard was born April 30, 1944, in Chilton.
 Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Charles Catholic church, Charlesburg, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Erbe-Hoffmann Funeral home, New Holstein.
 He is survived by his parents, four brothers, David, Paul, Michael and Daniel, and four sisters, Barbara, Susan, Mary Elizabeth and Christine, all at home.

Rudolph May Have Big Job With Snow

Wisconsin —(P)— Four to six more inches of snow expected. Temperature to stay mild. Snow diminishing to flurries tonight or Thursday. Outlook for Friday: Fair to partly cloudy and a little warmer.
 Appleton — Temperatures for the 24-hour period ending 9 a.m. today: High 27 low 19. Temperature at 10 a.m. today 28. Barometer reading 30.30 inches with wind east southeast five to nine miles an hour. Precipitation up to 8:20 a.m. today 5 inches of snow.

Eisenhower Makes Brief Report to Nation On His Peace Mission to World

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington —(P)— President Eisenhower today makes a brief report to the nation on his historic peace mission that carried him halfway around the world.
 As he returned home last night, the president relayed a message of Christmas good will from major areas of the free world. He'll make his 15-minute report when he lights the national Christmas tree late this afternoon.
 A shivering but enthusiastic crowd shouted greetings as the president drove into the White House grounds shortly after midnight. Thus ended a 22,000-mile trip, mostly by jet plane, that started Dec. 3 and took Eisenhower to 11 nations on three continents—the longest ever by an American president while in office.
4,000 Welcome Him
 The welcoming delegation, estimated by police at close to 4,000, was far short of the millions that greeted the president on his 19-day tour of personal diplomacy, but they waited in windy, 20-degree weather to cheer Eisenhower on his return.
 They waved giant sparklers that brilliantly lighted Pennsylvania avenue as Eisenhower nodded his appreciation. Then, after the chief executive had entered the White House, they burst into a serenade of Christmas carols.
 Half an hour earlier, a smaller but more official delegation met the president at Andrews Air Force base some 15 miles away in nearby Maryland. Waiting as the big jet plane touched down after a one-stop flight from Morocco were Mrs. Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, cabinet officers, members of the diplomatic corps and other officials.
Appears Healthy
 It was at Andrews that the president spoke briefly, saying that everywhere he went he was given a message of Merry Christmas to convey to the people of the United States.
 On the surface at least, the president appeared to have withstood the rigors of his pilgrimage better than many of those who accompanied him.
 "He's in better shape than we are," commented James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.
 After Christmas at the White House with Mrs. Eisenhower, the president probably will leave this weekend for his

Louisiana Congressman Seen As Rayburn's Successor at Sessions in Los Angeles

Washington —(U)— Influential Democrats today tabbed Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana as likely choice for permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention next year.

Although it is still early, the affable 45-year-old southerner and vice chairman of the Democratic national committee is reported to have the inside track to date to succeed House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas as chairman.

Rayburn, the Texas veteran who has wielded the gavel over Democratic conventions since 1948, is expected to step aside voluntarily next year because of a personal interest in the outcome. He has been pushing a fellow Texan, Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, for the party's presidential nomination.

Foregone Conclusion

Rayburn could have the 1960 convention job for the asking. He has set next month to announce his decision on the chairmanship, but informed Democrats already regard his withdrawal as a foregone conclusion.

In the role of convention strategist for Johnson, however, Rayburn probably will lead the Texas delegation to Los Angeles and occupy a seat on the convention floor.

In the opinion of many Democrats, Boggs would be a natural for the tough job of handling the convention and the frequently unruly delegates.

A major qualification would be his familiarity with the parliamentary rules of the house of representatives, which are the rules governing convention procedure. Boggs has frequently presided over major legislative debates in the house with a firm hand and authoritative gavel.

House Rules

Some Democrats have looked toward the ranks of Democratic governors for a chairman. But the tough requirement of working knowledge of house rules operates against such a choice.

Boggs could be expected to have Rayburn's support for the chairmanship. Also, it is reported that no objections have been registered by the potential candidates for the nomination.

Pig Forecast May Hurt Some Politics

Spring Crop Moves At Election Time: Report Covers 1960

Washington —(U)— The agriculture department issued a pig crop forecast that has economic as well as political overtones. It summarizes results of a survey of farmers' hog production plans for the 1960 spring season.

The report was awaited with some uneasiness on the part of many producers and some politicians. The spring crop will be moving to market at election time.

It was generally agreed that it shows that farmers plan to produce just about as many pigs during the 1960 spring season as last spring, the news would be bad for producers and possibly for Republican candidates in major midwestern hog-producing areas.

But should it show that a somewhat smaller crop is upcoming, the results could mean better prices for farmers and possibly a kinder producer regard for the GOP.

Hog prices this year have been running less than two-thirds those of a year earlier, reflecting the fact that hog slaughter has been 12 percent above last year. The bountiful supplies of pork have pulled down hog prices.

The hog situation has been uppermost in the mind of agriculture department officials. They have been urging farmers to ease up a little in production.

The situation is ticklish because beef cattle numbers have been built to high levels by producers encouraged by recent favorable beef prices. Anything that would start a rush of cattle to market—such as a drought—could break both cattle and hog prices. Butcher shops would be overloaded with meats.

Requests Steel Work Christmas

Pittsburgh —(U)— The U. S. district court here has been asked to set aside a U. S. Steel corporation order forcing some 500 employees to work at the nearby Irwin works Christmas eve and Christmas day.

The United Steelworkers Local 2227 petition Tuesday said the company is violating the Taft-Hartley injunction which ended a 116-day strike and sent the employees back to work for 80 days. The injunction expires Jan. 26.

The union said the injunction specified that work be resumed under the terms of the old contract. It said that working on Christmas is a deviation from past working practices.

U. S. District Judge Herbert P. Sorg set a hearing on the petition for today.

Too Much Television Can Give Anything From Pain to Clots

London —(U)— A British medical magazine warned today that too much television can give you anything from a pain in the neck to a heart attack.

The periodical, "The Lancet", emphasized that the incidence of what it dubbed "television collapse" is small. It asserted, however, that prolonged peering may bring on the following ailments:

TV neck. Watching from a chair which is too low or too high may cause pain and stiffness among the upper vertebrae.

Blood Clots

TV thrombosis. Sitting immobile in awkward positions may lead to blood clots in the veins.

TV fits. Flickering of the screen may touch off convulsions in borderline epileptics.

TV gas pains. Viewers have been known to faint from pain beneath the breastbone caused by eating a heavy meal and then loitering in a cramped posture.

TV heart attack. Programs which cause emotional stress may bring on angina pectoris, a pain in the chest accompanied by oppression of the heart.

The Lancet said viewers may head off most of these by getting out of their chairs at least once an hour and taking a brisk walk around the room.

They also should avoid wearing tight belts or girdles.

Stop In During the Holidays

Gilda Gray, Above, Sex Symbol of the '20s and creator of the shimmy dance, died of a heart attack while visiting a friend in Hollywood, Calif. She was about 60. This picture was made in 1936.

Famed Shimmy Dancer, Gilda Gray, Succumbs

Petite Blonde Was Symbol of 1920s; Death Closes Another Chapter of Era

Hollywood —(U)— Gilda Gray, the shimmy dancer of the 1920s who gave America more shakes than bootleg whisky, is dead.

She died of an apparent heart attack yesterday while visiting a friend. The petite blonde always had been coy about her age, and estimates ranged from 39 to 68.

Her death closed another chapter of the dizzy decade which acclaimed F. Scott Fitzgerald, jazz, near beer and raccoon coats. She was a top star in the golden era of vaudeville which produced Al Jolson, Will Rogers, Gallagher and Sheen, and Sophie Tucker.

More Fun

Years later she said of her fabulous heyday: "They might roar more today, honey, but we had more fun."

The girl with the wiggly hips, who thrilled tired businessmen with a wicked Charleston atop a speakeasy table, faded into obscurity with the depression. She reportedly made millions but was living in a furnished room at the end.

As recently as five years ago, she talked of a comeback: "It will be a big act, honey, something big." But it never materialized.

She was born in Krakow, Poland. Her real name was Maryanna Michalska. Her parents were killed during a revolution and she fled to America with her foster parents.

She sang and danced in Milwaukee saloons at the age of 14. She could hardly speak English but her slithering dances bespoke a language that needed no translation. She said the word "shimmy" was coined when: "I shook my chemise like this and tried to pronounce the word, but a customer thought I was saying 'shimmy' and that's how it all began."

Three Marriages

She graduated from speak-easies to George White's Scandals, Schubert musicals, Ziegfeld's Follies and the silent screen.

She married and divorced three husbands—John Rocco, a Wisconsin politician; Gaillard Boag, a New York night club owner, and Hector Briceno, a Venezuelan diplomat. She had a son, Martin, by Gorecki.

She filed a $1-million suit in 1946 against Rita Hayworth, alleging theft of her dance in the 1949 film "Gilda." The suit was dropped in 1954. No terms of settlement or reasons for dropping the suit were disclosed.

Despite ill health in recent years, she retained her trim figure. Two years ago, she expressed pleasure that skirts were becoming shorter.

Heart Attack

"Perhaps men will again be eyeing pretty girls' legs," she said hopefully.

Although a heart attack was the apparent cause of death, her physician said he could not sign a death certificate immediately. Her body was taken to the county morgue for an autopsy. A friend said right. The driver, Mrs. Ray-Miss Gray suffered what was believed to be an attack of Ambert, died in the Marinette poisoning five days ago, and had been under her doctor's care since.

Miss Gray was found lying on the floor of a bedroom, still clad in night clothing, at the apartment of a friend, Mrs. Antonio Raio. She had been visiting there about a week. Her own apartment was next door.

Eisenhower Showered With Presents From Hosts During His Tour

Gifts Include Exquisite Pieces Of Silver, Gazelles, Horse, Gun

Washington —(U)— President Eisenhower got enough gifts to fill a 3-continent tour to give Santa Claus a king size backache.

Kings, presidents of other nations, prime ministers and the common people showered him and members of his family with presents—some priceless, some mere trinkets—all along the route.

The collection includes exquisite silver pieces, Oriental rugs, a handsome desk with mosaic inlays, two baby gazelles, a horse with a richly tooled saddle—and two 39-inch cigars.

On Eisenhower's return to Washington last night, not even his aides handling the cataloging of the gifts would venture a guess on how many he received. They have been so busy packing them for shipment from Europe, Asia and Africa that there is no chance of getting anywhere near a complete list.

For Museum

In Asia a few days ago the president said he had been overwhelmed by the generosity of his hosts everywhere. He said he planned to send most of the gifts to the Eisenhower museum in Abilene, Kan. Thousands of other gifts and mementoes he has received as president and soldier already are on display there.

Eisenhower also was a bearer of gifts on his 22,370-mile tour. To each of his official hosts in 10 countries he gave Steuben glassware, cameras, transistor radios, and silver framed photographs of himself. Photographs traditionally are exchanged by guest and host on such visits.

Only in France was there no exchange of gifts. The reason: Eisenhower visited Paris for the 4-power western summit conference and was not the state guest of President Charles DeGaulle.

Eisenhower and DeGaulle exchanged gifts when the American president was in Paris earlier this year, and they will again when DeGaulle comes to the United States next April.

Some of Gifts

Italy — From President Gronchi, an 18th century painting of George Washington and Lafayette, the French general who helped the American colonies win independence.

Turkey — A variety of silver pieces and a collection of rich rugs.

Pakistan — A delicately filigreed silver tree and a silver model of a famous mosque at Lahore, plus a hand-decorated egg shell inscribed "We Like Ike."

Afghanistan — Afghan rugs and a beautiful alabaster vase.

India — From President Pra-

Reinstate Bill For Farmers

Assembly Changes Marketing Plan Watered by Senate

Madison —(U)— The Democratic-controlled Wisconsin assembly has reinstated farm marketing proposals asked by Gov. Gaylord Nelson in a controversial measure that had been watered down by the senate.

After restoring provisions asked by the governor the assembly gave preliminary approval to the measure 54-28 Tuesday but the Democrats lacked a two-thirds vote required to advance the bill for final passage.

The senate amended the original bill striking out provisions objected to by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation. The assembly restored these provisions and if the bill is finally passed in the lower house it probably will be rejected by the Republican-controlled senate.

Ask Amendments

The assembly passed and sent to the senate four resolutions calling for constitutional amendments involving personal property taxes. If approved by the senate the resolutions would need approval again in 1961 and by the voters before they could become effective.

Two of the proposals would permit classification of personal property, the others would wipe out the tax.

Another assembly bill passed would permit Wisconsin to contribute up to one-half the cost of local airport projects.

Another measure approved would make a jail sentence mandatory for persons convicted a second time of carrying a concealed weapon.

Minister of Education In France Resigns Job In School Aid Dispute

Paris —(U)— Andre Boulloche, minister of education, resigned today over the issue of public aid to private schools. Most private schools in France are operated by the Roman Catholic church.

Boulloche said he resigned because the French cabinet Tuesday altered a compromise proposal on the aid issue to which Boulloche had previously agreed.

The compromise proposal would increase the subsidy paid to private schools while allowing the government some say in how the money is spent.

Premier Michel Debre Tuesday received authority to demand a vote of confidence on the issue in the national assembly.

Neither the supporters of state aid nor its opponents, like the government compromise. Opponents dislike raising the subsidy and church groups oppose what they believe would be government interference in their affairs.

Sharp Decline in Pig Prices Seen

Washington — Farmers plan a sharp reduction of 11 per cent in the 1960 crop of pigs, influenced apparently by a big drop in prices this year.

The agriculture department reported a survey shows that a crop of 52,000,000 head is in prospect compared with 58,607,000 produced last spring. The reduction will be reflected in marketings for slaughter — and in prices — during the late summer, fall and early winter of 1960.

Swimming Pool Plans, Specifications Handed City by Chicago Firm

Detailed plans and specifications for the proposed Interlake park outdoor swimming pool have been received at city hall from Ralph Burke, Inc., Chicago.

They will be studied by Director of Public Works Duszynski and City Atty. Jury before coming to the board of public works, City Clerk Broehm said Tuesday.

The planners recommend a completion date of June 15, 1960, be included, but it may be worded less flatly, Ald. Thomas K. Schneider revealed.

Roger Touhy's Slayer

Chicago police are having difficulty determining who ambushed Roger Touhy, recently released from prison after serving 25 years for his alleged kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor. Touhy had maintained throughout his imprisonment that he had nothing to do with the kidnaping. Chicago police say they have no interest in a lie detector test given to Jake the Barber because they previously had cleared him of any connection with the crime. Factor was in Chicago because of a suit he was bringing against Touhy, for damages allegedly caused by a book which Touhy had written while in jail. Federal officials say the assault was carried out by the Mafia. The Mafia is an international underworld organization believed to be in charge of crimes across the nation and is commonly blamed for almost anything that cannot otherwise be explained. We have found the police theories about the shooting interesting because we happen to have some information on the subject. Our barber has given us his very interesting theory on the slaying. Our barber has no connection whatever with Jake the Barber but he follows the news closely and has come up with a very positive opinion on the matter. He says, "It wasn't any of those old fellows that Touhy chummed around with back in the twenties. You see Touhy is up in his 60's and when a man gets to be 60 he isn't much interested in going out shooting people from ambush. It was some of those young fellows, probably some young hoodlum who believes that his dad was pushed around or shot by Touhy or some of his agents back in the old days. I'll bet you if the police pick up some of those youngsters whose dads were connected with Touhy in a prohibition fight they will have the fellow. Those young fellows might think they should avenge their old man if he was the victim of the Touhy gang." We think our barber is just about as close to the facts as the Chicago police or the FBI in this instance. The federal men say it's the Mafia and that may be right without disturbing the theory of our barber. Some of those young fellows, the sons of Touhy's enemies, may now be in the Mafia. Anyway it's worth looking into since the Chicago police say they do not have much to go on anyway.

Poison in the Salt Shakers

Spokesmen for the United States Army in Heidelberg, Germany, have charged that the Czechoslovakian vice consul of Salzburg, Austria, provided a Communist agent with the poison which later was found in salt shakers at the cafeteria of Radio Free Europe in Munich. The Czechoslovakian legation in Vienna says that Jaroslav Nemec, the man named by the U. S. Army spokesman, is an employee of the consulate general at Salzburg as a minor official without diplomatic status. The spokesman also said that the U. S. Army statement is a gross provocation and it further denied that Czech officials in Austria were involved. Nevertheless, atropine, a deadly drug, was found in the salt shakers in the cafeteria which serves 1,200 employees of the broadcasting stations. None of them were poisoned but all were endangered and the cafeteria was closed for several days after the poison was discovered. It was reported that a dose of two-tenths of a gram causes death within six to twenty-four hours. Radio Free Europe is a civilian organization whose purpose is to broadcast information to any listeners it may have behind the Iron Curtain. Thus the poison attack on the personnel of R. F. E. was not directed against military personnel and therefore is somewhat different from a shooting war. Apparently the perpetrators of this offense were interested in having the plot exposed before any real damage occurred. Thus the poison plot becomes a part of the war of nerves that is directed back and forth between opposing parties provided by the Iron Curtain rather than a piece of physical violence. It is damaging to the people employed by R. F. E. and will unquestionably make it more difficult for them to recruit workers.

Community Assets

Communities seeking to bring new life into their areas and new money to keep it going have three general sources of strength. Victor Roterus, director of the office of area development in the U. S. Department of Commerce, says that most communities recognize the value of industry and agriculture but are not well informed upon the third source which is tourism. And oddly enough Roterus points out that tourism is "the quickest, least difficult method of the three." Wisconsin is known far and wide as a tourist state and many claims have been made about the huge revenue tourists are supposed to leave. However, no one really knows how close the claims are to the fact. A study has been ordered by the legislature and in time we may know more. In the meantime, however, it is pretty safe to assume that tourists do bring considerable wealth to the people of Wisconsin and that it is a good thing to promote tourism wherever possible. Roterus has suggested a long list of things which may help to attract tourists. He points out that some cities rely upon such things as an old mill, ancient automobiles, Indian remains, ghost towns, abandoned mines, modern mines, old bridges and new bridges. Some communities which do not have such physical assets try to build up events which attract tourists. He points out that Tampa, Fla., holds a pirate festival once a year, Fredericksburg, Va., has a dog auction and Cherokee, Iowa, has a plowing match. However, cities with historical backgrounds have the best opportunity to promote tourism. This is plain to all people who have visited the east coast including such points as Boston, Washington, D. C., and Williamsburg, Va. Appleton, in one of the earliest settled areas of the state, has many historical associations which attract tourists but the city has never exploited them to the full extent of their possibilities. Tourists coming to Wisconsin may by-pass the Fox river valley to go up north where the attractions are the lakes, woods and clean, fresh air. However, Appleton has as much opportunity to become an outstanding tourist attraction as many cities mentioned by Roterus as notable.

What Others are Saying

Weapon Cut Offers Knotty Defense Test

From The Miami (Fla.) News There is probably no more knotty problem confronting the defense leaders of the nation than when to cut back on old weapons in order to concentrate on the new. This is illustrated by the decision to reduce development of the B-70 faster-than-sound bombers to two, in the belief that missiles will have made them obsolete by the time more are built. The president called the Atlas missile "operational" meaning we have an intercontinental rocket capable of deterring a potential enemy from attack. Actually, the few Atlases we have are on only one base, Vandenberg, in Calif. A few bases in Britain and a base under construction in Italy will be armed with Thor intermediate range missiles. An estimate published in Britain this week places the number of Russian missile bases at more than 100. This tallies with recent boasts by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. In his farewell interview before leaving the government Defense Sec. Neil McElroy conceded: "If Russia builds what it could, and we build what we intend, they will have more missile capability for the period of 1961, 1962 and maybe 1963 than we will have."

France Still Paying for War Damage

From The France Actualite A decade and a half after the liberation, a conscientious French government still is paying its local communities and individual citizens for the damage their property suffered in World War II. In the last 15 years, successive French governments have paid out the franc equivalent of some $15 billion to municipalities and private Frenchmen in compensation for buildings, furnishings and factories destroyed in air raids, cattle hit by bombs or carried off, crops wiped out by tank movements, and similar losses. And now the new 1960 budget is allotting another $275 million for this purpose. Payments will cover everything from the chateau owner's destroyed or looted Gobelin tapestry to the small farmer's radio set confiscated by the Germans. A most salutary aspect of the government's policy: The compensation payments have been closely linked to reconstruction and community planning in France. Thus, when the municipality or claims are accepted only person to be compensated convinces the proper authorities that the payment will be used in a constructive and officially approved manner. And normally this is limited to rebuilding or repairing a city quarter, a house or a factory, re-equipping a productive plant, or restocking and modernizing a farm. Cut in Services Only Way State Can End Upward Surge of Taxes

Editor, Post-Crescent: I hope (this letter) will stimulate further thinking towards the serious financial situation Wisconsin finds itself in today. I've heard the governor, legislatures of both parties, and so-called experts, say that our big problem is to find out where we can get more money to solve our economic ills, when I am of the opinion that this is not the real issue at all. It is secondary to the issue of how much we are willing to tax to raise the money we say we need. By way of example: Each year the governor calls in the heads of the various departments and lets them tell him how much monies they think they need. Each year the heads of the departments ask for more and more personnel and more and more programs. By doing this, they become chief of a greater and greater agency and can therefore justify their demands for increases in salary. Each agency is not interested in what the other agencies are asking of the state government. However, as a former legislator representing Winnebago county, I haven't heard of one assemblyman or state senator suggest that the legislature first determine what the state total expenditure in any one year should be and then parcel out a certain percentage of this budget to each department. When a department head asks for an increase, he would not only have to justify that increase as far as his department is concerned, but he would also have to show why an increase in another department should be denied. Or, in other words, why the increase he demands is more important than that demanded by the others. Then I would go to the next step in finding out the best ways that this money could be raised. What we have is the legislature piling appropriation upon appropriation every time a bill is enacted, totaling up the figures and then saying, we've got to raise so much more money this year. I make the flat statement that taxes will never be reduced because neither the legislature nor the governor, regardless of political parties, will ever change its ways of doing things. As long as people demand more and more services from their state government, taxes are going to go up, and it doesn't take much of a demand to provide for the service. The government and the legislature are asking, where can we cut the budget? The answer is simple and clear. The only place you can, cut the services. This is not to say that these services are not fine and not splendid. They are extremely worthwhile. But if we can't afford them, then we ought not to have them, at least, not at this time. If a family cannot afford a dishwasher, an improvement in the home, landscaping in the front yard, or a new television set, it simply does without it to keep within its budget. Why cannot the state government do the same thing? Under this proposal, the legislature must first determine that $ — million was the most the State of Wisconsin could exact out of the taxpayers for the biennium, no expenditures over that figure would be allowed. Hence, some services would have to be cut back, and the legislature would have to determine what services would be cut back. Should it be cutting back services provided by state radio stations; should it mean cutting back the expansion of the university, and the stress upon quality rather than quantity; should it mean the cutback on service to farmers or the issuance of state publications. In this way the budget could be balanced. I predict we will try to get ourselves out of the situation by enacting a sales tax which will be proportionately earmarked for school purposes only, just the way the legislature tried to enact a sales tax for the purpose of a veterans bonus, waving the veterans flag when I was in the legislature. Then everybody will be happy for a few years because the income tax will be reduced or eliminated. Sales tax will

Under the Capitol Dome Democrats Wonder About Tax Strategy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Madison — Some of the Democratic state administration sympathizers, aware that the stream of higher tax publicity from Madison over a period of months is probably hurtful to the regime, are wondering in hindsight whether it was necessary.

Wyngaard

The deficit with which the Democrats are faced is comparatively high, by Wisconsin experience. But it is not enormous. Doubtless it is about typical of the other states of the country, all of which face the same general problems of accommodating rising costs to a tax base that has not kept pace. But suppose that Gov. Nelson last February or thereabouts had submitted a 2-year budget, and with it a revenue measure using traditional means to find the $25 million or so he now is looking for so anxiously? A comparatively moderate surtax, with a couple of the miscellaneous excises he later offered this year, would have plugged the gap. His political opponents might have scolded for a while, but they could not successfully attack a program essentially similar to those of Thomson, Kohler and Rennebohm before him, it may be guessed.

anticipated many months earlier tells its own story. It is perfectly evident that the governor knew he could have relief upon the tried and tested expedients. But he had committed himself to a more enlightened course in his election speeches and he intended to make good if he could. He set up the tax study machinery for a basic tax revision job. Perhaps he was concerned about himself in that decision, as in planning for a second term. The tinkering of this year would have to be repeated in a second term, as he might very well have realized. In any event his decision to put his weight behind tax revision in a fundamental way was one of the significant events of the year. In hindsight, Democrats may ruefully tell themselves that it was a costly decision politically. The time table was too optimistic. The reform blueprint couldn't be made available for the fall session, as it turned out. Whether it can be made available for next May or June, as the Republicans are now suggesting, is a matter of opinion heavily flavored by political interest on both sides. The important political fact was that Nelson tailored his own political program on the assumption that he could get the tax rewriting job done fall or winter. He undertook the risk of adverse publicity, and now that he stands to pay the price of a continued barrage of tax publicity and many lesser politicians of his party are becoming scared.

WHY NOT? The fact that the new governor didn't take that natural and easier way out of a budget problem that could be first be 2 per cent, then 3 per cent, then 4 per cent; more groups will petition the legislature for more services; then will come the reenactment of the Wisconsin income tax and surtax. Any person who today believes that a sales tax is the substitution for an income tax, is badly misled, because Wisconsin will have both, as long as people are gullible enough to believe that there is an unlimited demand of service the state can supply, and the people can pay for. The very people who are pushing for a sales tax at this time, in the hope that it will eliminate the income tax, will soon realize that their efforts will have been in vain, for the state will have found just one more means to increase the tax base. History does not show that once a government has found such a means, it soon relinquishes it. Richard J. Steffens Menasha

THE QUESTION An editor the other day complained about the sameness of stalehouse news dispatches. Reporters are writing about nothing except the tax argument, he observed. The news from the legislative press galleries and even from the governor's own office has the same theme, week after week. Quite true, but necessary. The legislature would not now be in session except that the tax job was deferred last spring. The decks have been cleared of almost all other significant matter. Six weeks after the start of the fall session scarcely anything of real consequence has been achieved, so that the tax dispatches got more prominence as a consequence. As this is written there is no real prospect for immediate relief. Gov. Nelson appears less concerned about this public image, as some of the political intellectuals would call it, than some of his contemporaries down in the ranks of his party. Yet it is evident that if any political realist could control the publicity about himself and his regime, he would prefer a public impression that would play down the tax unpleasantness and focus some attention on more neutral or more appetizing messages to the voters.

Ike's Trip Stamina Amazes Reporter

Writes Mamie Memo About Him, Asks His Endurance Formula

Washington—(U)—Dear Mrs. Eisenhower:—

You were somewhat worried three weeks ago about your husband, the president, taking on the arduous 11-nation tour from which he returned Tuesday night. You'll recall, he told us about the concern of his family at a Washington news conference Dec. 2, the day before he left.

The president also said, however, he felt a compulsion to make the trip—he simply had to do whatever he could in behalf of world peace. He said, too, his doctors felt he was up to the 22,370-mile trip — despite his history of heart attack, surgery for flebitis and minor stroke, all in the last four years.

Now that he is safely back with his family for Christmas, perhaps you would like to know—from one of the newsmen who accompanied him all the way — how well he seemed to stand up during a grueling 3-continent journey that sometimes has us supporters almost on the ropes.

Amazing Stamina
In short, Mrs. Eisenhower, his performance from a physical standpoint amazed us. At 69 years of age, he wore us younger fellows to a frazzle. We're sure, of course, that he is tired. No man could go through what he's been through without being weary.

But on the second-last day of the 19-day tour we saw him come down the ramp from his jet airliner at Madrid with the bounce of a man just home from a month at the beach.

And Tuesday at Casablanca in Morocco, this reporter rode alongside the president's car—within 10 feet part of the time—on that wild drive from the airport into town. As he was in every other nation on arrival, he was on his feet for miles—waving, bowing, smiling everlastingly to the huge crowds which jammed the roadside.

Ike Overwhelmed
We were close enough to see how overwhelmed he was — how emotion surged from his heart to his face as tens of thousands of veiled women trilled a strange bird-like call of welcome, and as fierce Berber tribesmen, mounted on horses, fired charges from ancient flintlock rifles.

That 18-mile triumphal procession must have left the president downright fatigued. Yet his step still had spring in it when hours later he walked to his plane for the long ride back to Washington.

His berth aboard the jet must have looked mighty good. We heard he grinned and told an aide: "Wake me up when I awaken."

Reporters Concerned
Frankly, Mrs. Eisenhower, all of us along on the trip shared your concern for the president's physical well-being.

We remember how, right at the start, he got off the plane in Rome in a downpour of rain without a raincoat or even an umbrella. We remember how he removed his hat for the playing of the national anthems, and how he kept it off and how all of us thought he surely would catch a cold.

During the next 19 days—in cold, in rain, in bone-chilling wind—there were many of us who had no doubt you would have wanted us to yell: "Ike, put your hat on. Enough of this protocol business. Nobody expects you to stand bareheaded in this weather."

But day after day he kept doffing that black homburg. Incidentally, the hat must need a good blocking. It's been on and off his head 10,000 times.

Daily Breather
You undoubtedly told him not to forget his doctor's order after his 1955 heart attack, that every day he should rest for a while about mid-day. Well, he didn't always make it by mid-day. But we understand he did manage at least one brief breather — sometimes more than one — each day.

The cruise through the Mediterranean from Athens to Toulon, France, also gave him a respite just before the western summit conference in Paris.

Finally, Mrs. Eisenhower, we hear the president, far from being fed up with travel, is thinking about going off to other lands before he leaves office in January, 1961.

If that's so, please, please — what's his stamina-building formula? We envious newsmen would like to copy it.

Merry Christmas,
Marvin L. Arrowsmith

$1,500 Damage in 3-Car Accident

Kaukauna — Slippery roads were blamed for a 3-car accident about 11 a.m. Tuesday at Taylor and Lawe street with over $1,500 damage estimated but no one hurt, according to Kaukauna police.

A car driven by Ben Hart, 74, 1524 Harriman street, Appleton, was going east on Taylor and was unable to stop on the slippery road. He struck a car driven by Mrs. Edward Baeten, 20, Wrightstown, traveling south on Lawe and pushing that vehicle into a car going north on Lawe street, driven by Vincent Steffens, 1810 Green Bay road.

Christmas Mass Schedule at St. John Church Announced

Little Chute — Special Christmas masses are scheduled at St. John Catholic church opening with a solemn midnight mass. A program of music and songs at 11:30 p.m. Thursday will precede the mass.

The choir under the direction of Harold Janssen and with Miss Laura Gloudeman at the organ will sing "Silent Night," and "Gesu Bambino." The mass will be "Missa Exa Ultate Deo." Celebrant will be the Rev. Martin Vosbeck, pastor, while the Rev. Leroy Hogan will be deacon and the Rev. James Feely, sub-deacon.

The choir will sing "Hodie Christus Natus Est" during the Offertory, "Adeste Fideles" during the Communion, and "Hark the Harold Angels Sing" as the recessional.

Christmas Day
Masses will be read at 5:45, 6:30, 7:30, 9 and 10:30 a.m. on Christmas day. The latter will be a high mass.

New Blast Furnace, Dust Collector Part of Company's Plans

Kaukauna — Employees of Roloff Manufacturing will be given an extended vacation over the holidays to permit remodeling and improvement work, according to Walter Roloff, company president.

The plant will shut down at 6:30 p.m. Thursday and normal casting work will be resumed at 7 a.m. Jan. 5, barring unforeseen delays in improvement work. A new, larger and more modern coke fired blast furnace is to be installed after the old furnace has been removed.

Work will be done by the Modern Equipment company of Port Washington. The new furnace will make it possible to melt between 40 or 50 tons of steel per day whereas the existing furnace has a melting capacity of between 22 and 25 tons.

Thus capacity will be almost doubled. No added men will be needed as the larger furnace merely will enable present crews to keep pace with melting capacity. Previously the furnace could not keep men working at peak effort on castings due to lack of steel.

Another improvement will be the installation of a wet-type dust collector, operating through water spray. This will service all parts of the plant where dust collects. Previously fans or the dry-type collectors were used.

The new equipment is the most modern in dust collection and will improve working conditions in all departments, according to the president. Still other improvements will be the installation of an overhead crane over the molding floor and enlargement of locker room facilities.

When possible, men from the company will be used to aid in construction work but the majority will be done by outside labor to stay within union working arrangements, said Roloff. No estimate of the total cost was available.

Overheated Oil Pipe Ignites Wood Garage

Kaukauna—Extensive damage was reported to a garage at 202 W. Sixth street about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday when an oil burner pipe overheated, igniting wood around the pipe.

The garage was being used by Melvin Baker and was being heated with an oil burner. The regular chimney led through the wood side of the garage and no metal or tin protected wood from the hot pipes. Considerable damage was reported to the side of the garage.

Combined Locks Parish Sets Christmas Masses

Combined Locks — Three masses will be read at St. Paul Catholic church on Christmas, the first a midnight mass starting with special music at 11:45 p.m. Thursday, according to the Rev. John DeWald, pastor.

The Holy Name society men's choir will sing "Silent Night," and "Noel" at the 11:45 p.m. program with Miss Anna Vanden Wymelenberg at the organ. Masses Christmas will be at 8:30 and 10 a.m. with children to sing.

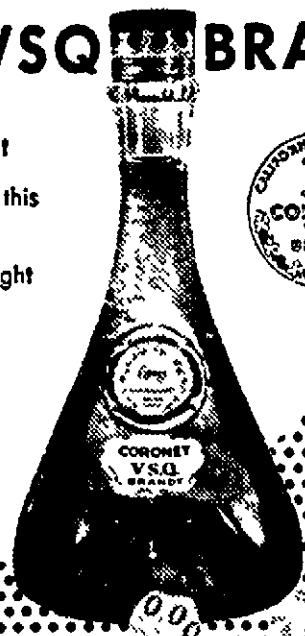

Fire Controlled

Chilton — Members of the Chilton volunteer fire department quickly brought a chimney fire under control at the route 1, Chilton, farm home of Benjamin Duchow. The department was summoned at about 8 p.m. Tuesday.

State Formed To Serve Man, Pontiff Says

manity new conflicts, new massacres, new destruction beyond calculation."

"There is not a state of war," he said, "but neither is there peace."

The pope spoke in Italian in response to Christmas greetings from the college of cardinals. His message was broadcast by the Vatican radio and various European networks. The Mutual Broadcasting System carried an English-language translation in the United States from 11:05 to 11:30 a.m.

Pope John, again without naming communism, referred sadly to what Pope Pius XII, his predecessor, described as "the church of silence" in communist-ruled lands. He declared the church and its members in those countries would hold firm.

"It needs still to be noted," he said, "that the pacification which the church prays for is completely impossible if it is mistaken for a yielding or a relaxation of its firmness in the face of ideologies and systems of life which are in proclaimed and irreducible opposition to the Catholic teaching; nor does it denote indifference before the lamentation which comes to us even now from the unhappy lands where the rights of man are ignored, and falsehood is the adopted system."

"Still less can one forget the sorrowful Calvary of the church of silence; there where the confessors of the faith, rivaling the early Christian martyrs, are exposed to sufferings and torments without end for the cause of Christ."

Men of the present day, the pope said, have not completely carried into effect the conditions of peace. As a result, "God's paths toward peace have no meeting point with those of men."

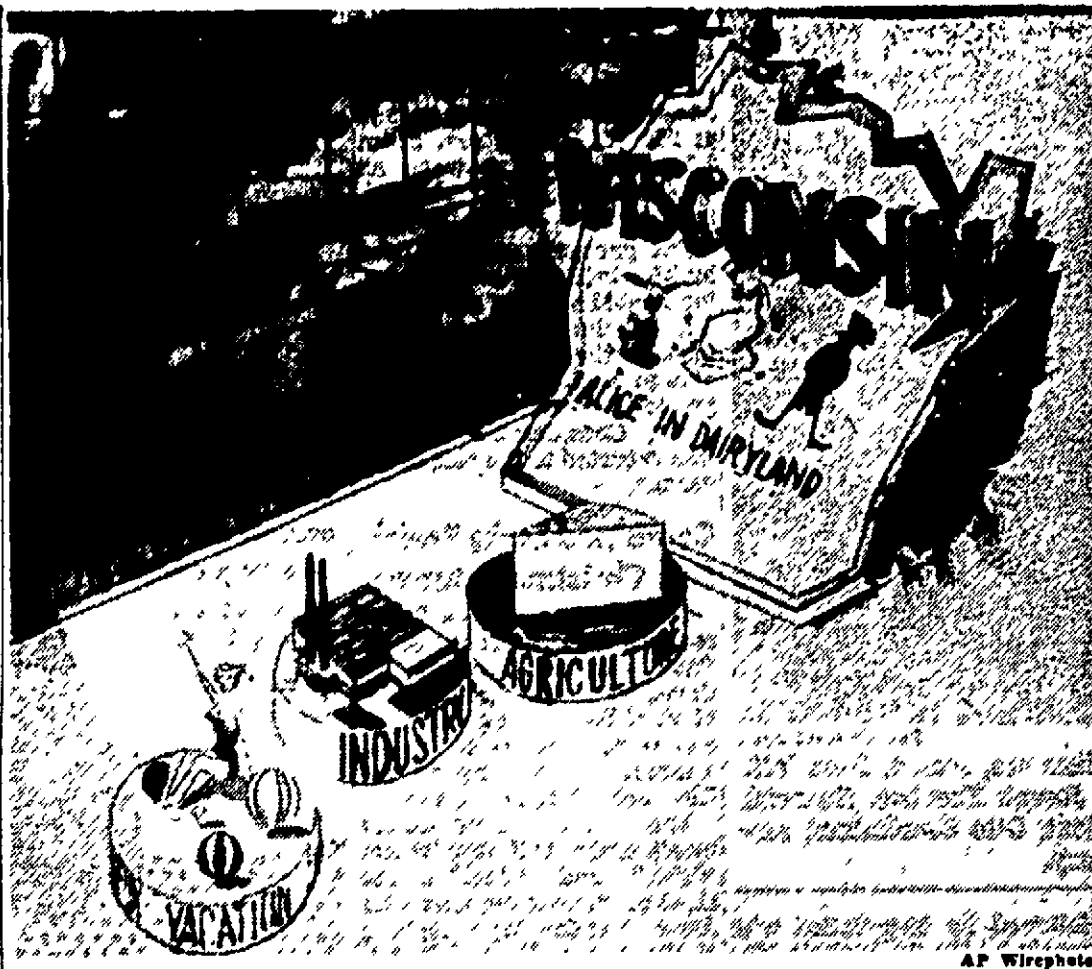

"Hence," he continued, "there is the abnormal situation of this postwar period which has created, as it were, two blocs with all their uneasy conditions."

Must Remove Obstacles
Nearly all the pontiff's speech — his second Christmas message to the world since he succeeded the late Pius XII 14 months ago — was devoted to peace and the obstacles to it. This, too, was the theme of the 19 Christmas messages delivered by Pius during his reign.

Pope John said the nations

A One-Day Treatment for Despair

"Can you help me?" he asked the doctor. "I just seem to have come to a dead end." And the doctor, who was not a psychiatrist, then wrote 4 of the most remarkable prescriptions for one day's living you've ever read... Whatever trouble you're facing, this advice may work for you! of the world aspire ardently to peace, but "it will be necessary again and again to remove from the path (of peace) the obstacles placed by the malice of man."

The presence of these obstacles, the pope continued, can be noted in "the propaganda of immorality, in social injustice, in forced unemployment, in wretchedness contrasted with privilege of whoever can indulge in dissipation, in the fearful lack of proportion between the technical progress and the moral progress of nations, in the unchecked armaments race without there yet being a glimpse of a serious possibility of arriving at a solution of the problem of disarmament."

The pope said homage to the "good will of the many guides and proclaimers of peace in the world: Statesmen, experienced diplomats, influential writers."

Speech in 3 Parts
The pontiff divided his words on peace into three general sections: peace of heart, social peace and international peace.

In an obvious criticism of the communist way of life, although he did not mention communism by name, the pope said that social peace "is solidly based on the mutual and reciprocal respect for the personal dignity of man... the state — are primarily for man; not man for them."

"The disturbances which unsettle the internal peace of nations trace their origins chiefly to this source, that man has been treated almost exclusively, as a machine, a piece of merchandise, a worthless cog in some great machine, a mere productive unit."

The pontiff said the Roman Catholic church "looks with favor on every initiative which can help to spare humanity new conflicts, new massacres, new destruction beyond calculation."

4 to 6 More Inches of Snow Expected Tonight

New England had two to seven inches.

Herds of wild deer came out of the woods near Yorktown, N. Y., to forage for food. The animals halted traffic in some spots.

The 16-hour snowfall in New York city was the worst since February 1938. Seven inches was reported in Manhattan.

The sun shone brightly after the storm's passage. But the temperatures dropped swiftly during the night.

As the storm moved out of the northeast, a fresh snow storm developed in the upper Mississippi valley. It moved slowly eastward during the night.

As the storm moved out of the northeast, a fresh snow storm developed in the upper Mississippi valley. It moved slowly eastward during the night and extended from Iowa and Minnesota eastward through Wisconsin and Northern Illinois.

The storm headed into Northern Indiana, Michigan and northwest Ohio, with snow, freezing rain and sleet indicated. A belt of sleet or freezing rain appeared likely to precede this snow storm eastward into western New York and Pennsylvania.

Mild Temperatures
Wisconsin and northeast Iowa were hit by the heaviest snow covering in the Midwest, from four to seven inches. Falls in Minnesota and Illinois were more than two inches.

It was cold in most areas from the Rockies to New England. Near zero temperatures were reported in many parts of New England.

Up to 10 inches fell in areas just north of New York City.

ed at midnight tonight with two graders, a snow loader and six trucks to clear College and Wisconsin avenues.

Side streets downtown will be worked on Christmas eve.

Cabs, buses and trains are moving despite the weather. Taxis are running 20 to 30 minutes late, but they have 50 per cent more calls, a cab company man said.

Shoppers Sparse
The Greyhound bus from Green Bay has had no difficulty in making its schedule. No trouble is expected.

Wisconsin Michigan power company said it has had no trouble. It is "very quiet," a spokesman said. The last flight of North Central Airlines into Appleton Tuesday was cancelled. There is much snow on the runway, an airport official said.

Snows in Appleton cut the Christmas rush Tuesday night, the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce said. Few shoppers were seen downtown.

Several Persons Die
The fall of snow brought 14 inches to Rhinelander and 11 inches at Wausau. Visibility was poor and in some southern sections sleet came down with the snow. Milwaukee had freezing rain and sleet. Then heavy snow covered the ice.

A year ago today it was clear with a temperature of 34. Two inches of old snow lay on the ground.

At least 19 deaths were reported in highway accidents on slippery roads. Several persons collapsed and died after or during snow shoveling.

to be more expedient than to enforce the law by using the national guard to aid the local civil authorities," the judges said.

Freeman's office said he would make no comment until the governor has had a chance to read the 12-page decision.

Wilson's president, James D. Cooney, said in Chicago the decision pleased him and that he hopes the court's opinion "will clarify Gov. Freeman's."

Appeal Probable
"A great many of our so-called liberal governors seem unable to distinguish between being candidates for governor and governor," Cooney said. "They are supposed to be governor for the entire state. Freeman is governor for everybody in Minnesota. One of his primary executive duties is to keep peace for everyone in his state."

The state's attorney general, Miles Lord, indicated prior to the ruling he would appeal if it went against the state.

Negotiations, broken off Oct. 29, were resumed in Chicago last week but were broken off yesterday until after the holidays.

Mosling bought half interest in Besserdich's patent. Later the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce purchased the company and formed the Oshkosh Motor Truck company, which Besserdich remained with until retiring in 1924.

Besserdich was justice of the peace in Clintonville for 25 years, starting in 1928. He was also a member of the fire department and an alderman. He retired in 1949 after selling monuments for a while.

was too ashamed. I was afraid to face my wife's tears. I was afraid to look at our girls and have them look at me. Even when they were little ones they knew about me.

They never would say, "Daddy's drunk again." They always said, "Daddy's sick again." I hated to have them say that.

Every time I failed them I could see how hurt they were. Lots of times I had to cry right in front of them because I knew how they needed me and I knew I couldn't help them. I suppose they saw me cry a hundred times or more. Sometimes it was the drink that made me cry. Sometimes it was the overwhelming sorrow for the wretched life I was making them lead.

Wife Persevered

My wife left me several times in the early years, mostly as a kind of an experiment to see if it wouldn't make me come to myself, but it never did even though I would try all the harder. Being alone without the restraint of my obligations seemed reason enough to get a bottle.

Sometimes I would get a little job cleaning up a tavern. My salary was a bottle of wine and maybe, once in a while, a dollar or two. Then I would have a job once in a while as a dishwasher. I'd get a hamburger sandwich when I wanted one but mostly I'd get enough for a start on drinking.

I didn't eat very often — maybe twice a week, and then only a hamburger sandwich and coffee.

Milwaukee Episode

One morning I woke up in an alley in Milwaukee. I hurried to get a drink because I had finished my bottle during the night. I didn't worry about the money for it. An alcoholic gets pretty shrewd. He can always con somebody into buying him a drink, or feeling sorry for him. But this morning I couldn't find a tavern open nor could I find a place to get help. I couldn't think at first why that should be, but as I wandered around I could see that it was Christmas. I decided that if I could only have a drink I would go home. I found a tavern where there was a guy working inside and I pounded on the door until he let me in. He gave me a bottle for cleaning up his place.

Some time that day I finished that bottle, but I was heading for home, hitchhiking. Some college boys picked me up and we drove a few miles but a terrible thing began to happen to me and I asked to get out.

I was having the DT's, but the kids didn't realize. They thought I was sick and they insisted on keeping me in the car so they could get help for me. They were too innocent to know that I was getting a big installment payment for my wrongs.

Spent Time in Jail

I saw evil things and green creatures and snarling half-wolves and half serpents, all trying to get me and when it all was finished I was in a police station. I served some time in jail, then I went home.

There was no scolding, no crying at all from my wife. But the patience she showed made me furious. I told her to quit acting like a poor, suffering martyr just to make me feel bad. I asked her if she was too stupid to know that I suffered worse than she did. I wanted to hit her but alcoholics don't usually strike out. There isn't much fight in them.

I drank for another year and then Alcoholics Anonymous began to seep through and get to me. I had belonged, off and on, for about five years but I wasn't helping myself.

Two years ago Christmas I was pretty good but my wife was in the bathroom most of the day, trying to keep me from hearing her crying. We had a little tree and there were some family ornaments on it but there were no presents for the girls except a few things their mother had made and some food the neighbors brought in.

Hasn't Succumbed

Last Christmas was the first I have spent with my family as a sober, responsible person and it gave me both great joy and great fear. The fear was that I would succumb again, but I haven't — and I won't.

I'm not cured, really. No alcoholic can say that he "was" an alcoholic. He still is and probably always will be. But an alcoholic knows that he must not drink and that he cannot. He knows the drink to be fought against is the first one. If he wins his fight he's a winner.

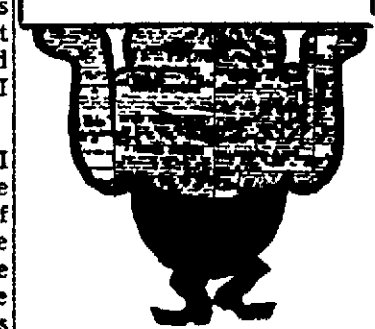

I've got a pretty good job and my family is probably the happiest family in the whole state because we are all devoted to each other and we all understand my problem, and we are going to have a Christmas this year even better than last year's — and that was my best... so far.

Devised Socket
Zachow and Besserdich worked out a "ball-and-socket" joint for the front wheels of a car which proved to be the key to their 4-wheel-drive. Their innovation consisted of a hollow ball mounted at the ends of the front axle housing, with a socket fitting over it and attached to the wheel skin. The arrangement permitted normal steering while full power was applied to the wheels.

Zachow applied for a patent in 1907 and it was granted in 1908. In 1909 Besserdich and Zachow formed a corporation with Dr. William H. Finney to build 4-wheel-drive cars. When this venture fell through, Besserdich and Zachow formed a new company, "The Badger Four Wheel Drive Auto company" on April 21, 1910. This is now the FWD corporation.

The two built the first successful 4-wheel-drive car in 1908, but the power plant, a steam engine, failed to work well. A 45-horsepower gasoline engine was installed in the company's second vehicle, a 3,800 pound car nicknamed "The Battleship" which is still in working order.

Besserdich served as an officer of the company from Jan. 9, 1909, to July 14, 1910. In 1914 Besserdich sold his holdings.

Discovery of People Needed At Christmas

Dickens Characters Used as Example By Rev. Lee

"The self-centered man cannot keep Christmas well."
"It is kept well by those who let themselves become children again," the Rev. H. Shelby Lee, pastor of First Congregational church, told Appleton Rotarians Tuesday at the Conway hotel.

Lee

"One must discover people—your husband, wife, children, friends—to enjoy the true meaning of Christmas. It is so easy to work, jostle and live with people and never discover them."

The Rev. Mr. Lee drew examples from Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol." Bob Cratchit and his son Tiny Tim knew how to keep Christmas well. This is illustrated in Tiny Tim's statement, "God bless us every one" and the Cratchit family's observance of Christmas, he said.

Ebenezer Scrooge learns how to keep Christmas well by the end of the story. From his statement early in the tale that those who keep Christmas "should be boiled in their own pudding," Scrooge goes through a transition and at the end of the story sees people for the first time in his life," the pastor said.

"At the end he knew how to keep Christmas because he learned how to face himself and not to fear sentiment."

The pastor said Christmas is a holiday of people. God loves people and visited man through His Son. The love for God and man are together and cannot be separated. "He who does not love his brother, whom he has seen, cannot love God whom he has not seen," the pastor quoted.

It is truly more blessed to give than to receive, the pastor stated. Man's heart is conditioned to give his fellow man love, respect, hope, happiness, service, leadership, guidance and devotion.

"We have to discover people as people to keep Christmas well."

"The idea that it is more blessed to give than receive is vital not only for Christmas, but also for our community and society."

Florida Boy Saved After Cave Collapses
Tampa, Fla. —A "There wasn't anything I could think of but to pray and believe me I prayed."

This is what 14-year-old Robert French said after he was pulled from a cave where he had been buried alive for seven minutes yesterday.

He and several friends had dug a small cave on a railroad embankment. The youth was digging in it when it collapsed. The cries of French's companions brought Homer Smith, a visitor from Rockford, Ill. Smith had dug the boy's head clear by the time firemen arrived.

"The boy was on his last lap when we got the oxygen mask clamped to his face," Fireman Harvey Ditterbrand said.

State Employees Get $1 Living Cost Hike

Boy Watching Snow Notices Mill Blaze

New London — A 12-year-old's interest in the falling snow figured in the early alarm of a fire in the tower of the grist mill of the New London Co-op exchange.

Tom Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herald Brown, 211 E. Wolf River avenue, was watching the snow from his bedroom window about 10:25 p.m. when he noticed smoke coming from the eaves and the top of the tower and flames reflecting in a window.

New London volunteer firemen donned masks to enter the mill to battle the fire in the smoke filled tower. Mill dust hampered the firemen in their 2-hour battle.

Damage was confined to the upper motor mountings and an electric motor. According to Fire Chief Gus Feurig, the pulley ignited the belt, which fell igniting the dust covered floor.

The tower is about 45 feet tall and the mill basement is at least 24 feet deep. Firemen battled sparks on top of the tower and in the basement.

Typhoons Cause Food Shortage

Naha, Okinawa — Three typhoons have caused a serious food shortage through three areas of the U.S.-administered Ryukyu islands and put 140,000 persons on short rations until spring.

"It is serious," a spokesman for the U.S. Civil administration said, "but there is no starvation or famine. People are on short rations. This is expected to continue through next May."

He said nearly 14 million pounds of relief food has been ordered from the United States to maintain even the short ration.

Railroad Museum Gets Huge Locomotive From Santa (Fe)

Green Bay — The National Railroad museum is getting a 501-ton Christmas present.

A giant Santa Fe steam locomotive is scheduled to arrive in Green Bay tonight and will be installed on the museum grounds in W. D. Cooke park Thursday. It is a gift from the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway system and will be the fourth historic steam locomotive enshrined here.

It is locomotive No. 5017 built by the Baldwin Locomotive Works in 1944. It saw freight service until 1949 on the Pecos division of the southern district of the Santa Fe Western lines. Then it was in an engine pool until 1953, when it was used to supplement diesel power until retired in 1955.

During its lifetime the locomotive racked up a total of 755,068 miles.

Delicate Move
Movement of the locomotive to the museum grounds will be an intricate business because of its huge size and its five drivers on each side.

Tax Revisers Told

Government Spending Higher Here Than 4 of 6 Neighboring States

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — State and local government in Wisconsin is comparatively expensive.

That is one of the conclusions of the research staff of the continuing state revenue study commission, making background summaries for the guidance of the citizens' group which is at work on a report expected to urge a basic revision of Wisconsin taxing policies.

The group is lumping state and local government expenditure problems because it

Set Childrens Program for Jewish Holiday
Between 25 and 30 children will present a Hanukkah program at the Moses Montefiore synagogue social center at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Friday is the beginning of the 8-day Hanukkah or dedication holiday. The celebration commemorates history's first uprising on behalf of religious liberty. About 170 years before the Christian era, the pagan Greco-Syrian emperor out of Judea and religious freedom was reestablished.

The program at Moses Montefiore will include hymns, a skit, prayers and the lighting of the Hanukkah candles. In honor of the holiday, candles are lit each evening at sundown for the 8-day period. One taper is lit the first night, two the second, and so on through the celebration.

There were many variations in the pattern of spending, reflections of regional tastes and specific local problems.

But in summary, Wisconsin is higher in nine classes of expenditure than the national average and lower in seven out of the 16 categories of spending purposes studied by the commission staff.

In education, one of the prime causes of high expenditure today, the state is about typical. It ranked only 50 cents per $1,000 of income below the average for the country.

But Wisconsin is high in highway expenditures, just about double the U.S. average, and considerably above the practices of its neighboring states.

It is also in top position for fire, protection spending, and is comparatively high in spending for police protection. It is a little below the average in public welfare spending, and about average for natural resources conservation outlays. It is slightly ahead in spending for health and hospitals, and in first place in "sanitation" spending, ranking about 80 per cent above the nation's average.

Again this state is in first place in expenditures for local parks and recreation, but it spends very little on public housing and development against the typical state in the country.

Local library expenditures are highest in Wisconsin, with a figure about 50 per cent above the national average.

Largely because of the prohibition against state debt, the state ranks low in interest on debt spending.

Bethlehem on Christmas Eve Inspires Great U. S. Carol

BY HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeature Writer

Christmas eve in the holy land, 1865. Riding horseback into the hallowed hills, the tall American minister came to the same field where centuries before the shepherds had watched their flocks by night.

A chill winter wind sweeping off the mountains urged him to ride on, but the solemnity of the scene held him fascinated. The night was hushed and clear, the woods diamond dipped in frost. Below him, the dark streets of Bethlehem stretched out under the time-less stars.

"O little town of Bethlehem How still we see thee lie Above thy deep and dreamless sleep The silent stars go by."

The beauty of Bethlehem on that night, so profoundly affected the Rev. Phillips Brooks that three years later he was able to translate it into an exquisite poem for his

Third and last of series

Sunday School classes at Philadelphia's Church of the Holy Trinity. The words were set to music by Lewis Redner, his church organist and Sunday School superintendent, who always maintained that the melody came to him in a dream after week of fruitless struggle.

Humble Premiere

On Christmas eve, 1868, 50 years almost to the hour after Born, was written in the "Silent Night" first echoed through the Austrian alps, a Brebeuf, a Jesuit missionary choir of six teachers and 36 who labored among the Huron Sunday School children lifted

Indian Song First

The first American carol, "Jesus Ahatonnia" (Jesus is Born), was written in the Huron language by John de tyrdom by Iroquois torturers in 1649.

In the "Jesuit Relations," missionary reports sent back to the superiors in Paris, another Jesuit, Father Bartholemew Vimont, tells how the Hurons celebrated Christmas in 1645.

"They built a small chapel of cedar and fir branches in honor of the manger of the infant Jesus. They wished to perform some penance for better receiving Him into their hearts on that holy day, and even those who were at a distance of two days' journey met at a given place to sing hymns in honor of the new-born child. Neither the inconvenience of the snow nor the severity of the cold could stifle their ardor."

American Influence

Many of Europe's most famous Christmas carols have an American background. The music for Isaac Watts' "Joy to the World" was borrowed from a theme of Handel by Lowell Mason, Medfield, Mass. Charles Wesley, — author of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," was inspired to write hymns after listening to the singing of German Moravians in the colony of Georgia. "Away in a Manger," erroneously attributed to Martin Luther, originated among the Lutherans of eastern Pennsylvania. "Angels We Have Heard on High" is a French carol with a Latin chorus and an English name. It is often called the Westminster carol because it traditionally highlighted the Christmas program at Westminster cathedral. Actually, it originated in Quebec.

Carol of Kings

Williamsport, Pa., is the birthplace of the carol "We Three Kings of Orient Are," written in 1857 by the Rev. John Henry Hopkins Jr. Hopkins, serving as Episcopal rector of Williamsport's Christ church, wrote both the words and the music, a rarity for carol composers. Singers regard this stately dramatic carol as one of the best, from a musical standpoint, and are particularly enamored with its rapturous chorus:

"O star of wonder, star of night Star with royal beauty bright Westward leading, still proceeding, Guide us to the perfect light."

The Rev. Dr. Edmund Sears, a Harvard man, wrote the words to "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" while watching the snow fall outside his study windows at Wayland, Mass., in 1849. A Yale man, Richard S. Willis of Detroit, supplied the music after seeing the poem in a newspaper. The two never met.

Both Sacred, Popular

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" has been given musical treatment both as a sacred hymn and a popular Christmas song. The poet penned the words on Christmas night, 1863, six months after the battle of Gettysburg and a short time after his son had been wounded while serving

Golden Says Christmas Not Commercial at All

Only in America

BY HARRY GOLDEN

Children understand Christmas best. They know it is a time of year not only of good will but of magic. They know a jolly fat fellow with a white beard and a red suit will come down the chimney them for being children. At six, the first doubt enters the mind. They have noticed how hard it is for anything to get down the chimney. But Christmas morning the glass of milk and the cookie they have left for Santa Claus have been consumed and there are the toys and the tree and until they are nine and start studying science children both believe and doubt.

At nine, they are sadly overpowered by the physical facts of life. They know there isn't a Santa Claus but they know there ought to be. When they have their own children, they happily resurrect him. But I'd hate to think what would happen to Christmas if there were no children. Everyone is confused about it.

Religious Holiday At Christmas time every minister begs his congregation to put "Christ back in Christmas." Every rabbi informs his congregation that Christmas is a Christian holiday, not a national holiday, and that it is reserved for Christians. For instance, the Jewish community, centers stay open on Christmas day because it is a religious holiday, but close on New Year's Day, which is also a religious holiday — the Feast of the Circumcision.

We live in a highly materialistic and commercial society. Every year we hear the complaint that Christmas is too commercial. This complaint is only a rationalization. Christmas isn't commercial at all. People go on a buying spree because that is their national character. No one gets fired before Christmas, no one quits. People get a bonus. More liquor is sold over the holidays than at any time during the year.

During the Christmas season Americans collectively admit that there is a part to the personality that is not strictly competitive. For the month of December, the entire society gets along with itself, which, as Samuel Butler said, is the obvious purpose of society. It is possible for us to buy things without the "hard sell."

Greeks Had It

The Greeks had a proverb which said "Every man owes five days to Dionysus." Dionysus was the god of wine. Five days a year, the Greeks believed, a man needed to relax and indulge himself.

That period between Christmas and New Year's is the American five days to Dionysus. It is the one time in the year that we do not believe we have to knock our competitor to the ground. It's the one time in the year we all expect time off. It's the time of year that you call your mother-in-law long distance.

3-Month-Old-Girl Will Spend Her First Christmas in Jail

Plymouth, Mass. —

Three-month-old Karen Bruning will spend her first Christmas in jail.

Her mother, Mrs. Beverly Bruning, 22, is confined to Plymouth county jail for shoplifting. Her father, Leslie Bruning, 24, is confined to Barnstable county jail.

The couple was sentenced to a year in jail last Nov. 5 for shoplifting.

The judge decided at the time it would be better for the child to accompany the mother than to be placed in a foster home.

Karen has her own room—gaily decorated for Christmas—to which the mother has ready access.

UW Plans First Issue Of Literary Journal

Madison—Plans are nearing completion for the first issue of a new literary magazine to be published semi-annually at the University of Wisconsin, the editors of "Wisconsin Studies in Contemporary Literature" announced Friday.

The critical journal is to be devoted to the study of contemporary American and English literature, especially that since World War II. Prof. Frederick J. Hoffman is advisory editor. The first issue of "Wisconsin Studies," will appear early in 1960.

Senior Girl Scouts Carol at Chilton

Chilton—Senior Girl Scouts from troops 8 and 3 brought a concert of familiar Christmas music to patients at Calumet Memorial hospital Sunday when they toured the hospital singing carols.

A total of 110 brownies, intermediates and adults in the scouting program attended the annual caroling party at city hall. Senior scouts assisted leaders with younger troops in their singing trip through the city which preceded the party.

Mrs. Quentin Foeschberger acted as song leader and committee mothers provided refreshments which were served by Mrs. Clarence Bennin, Mrs. John Nuss and Mrs. Victor Winkler.

Girl Scout Troop Sings to Patients

Girl Scout Troop 47 of Sacred Heart Catholic school sang Christmas carols at St. Elizabeth hospital Monday afternoon.

The girls presented Sister Salome, hospital administrator, with 100 silver sleighs, containing decorated cookies to be used for tray favors on Christmas day.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Glen Bowers and Mrs. James G. Long.

Your Problems
Loose Fingering Employee Lifts Odds and Ends to Get Even

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN: What can I do with a husband who steals? No matter where he works he comes home with merchandise, tools, a c hinery, wire, all sorts of odds and ends from the company.
When I get mad he says, "They don't pay me what Ann Landers I'm worth. This helps even things up." Or, "They'll never miss it. They have plenty down there."
He's been employed at three different plants in the last 10 years and has done the same thing at every one. I was never quite clear on why he was let out at the last place.
I'm afraid the children will learn his ways and it's making me sick. Our eldest boy is 11 and he's already asking questions. Please, suggest something. — Deeply Concerned for stealing. Ask how he'd like to be prosecuted in a court of law and wind up with a beamrched name to hand down to his son.

DEAR ANN: A bunch of squares in our school are trying to pass a code of behavior which includes boys wearing long-sleeve shirts and ties to classes.
Who in the Sam Hill wants to dress up every day like for a funeral? And what has a guy's clothes got to do with behavior anyway? Help help! The creeps are closing in. We need someone to speak for us. How about it?—Anti-Squaresville
Dear Anti - Squaresville: Sorry, Boys, you rattled the wrong cage. I believe the way a boy dresses has a lot to do with his behavior. It's unlikely that a kid in a shirt and tie will get into a flist fight or slide down a bannister.

Open throats, tight jeans and beltless pants are O.K. for a hayride or cow-punchin', but school deserves a more dignified get-up.
Boys who look like gentlemen usually act that way. I'm for this part of the code and I hope it passes.
DEAR ANN: I was happy (and relieved) to learn in your column today that someone else is married to a man who walloped her around during her sleep. This woman said she didn't mind because she reasoned her husband used to sleep with his brother Leonard and he got into the habit of slugging in his sleep, in self defense.
I, however, married a man who had no brother Leonard. The first three months of our marriage found me with constant bruises, shiners and even a dislocated jaw. During the night I was frequently awakened by an elbow crashing down on my head. I would yell and he'd wake up with a startled "What happened?"
One night he found out what happened. I got out of bed, swung from the heels and cracked him square on the jaw as he had done to me. He has never hit me in his sleep since. — Madame Snooze

Dear Deeply Concerned: Millions of dollars worth of tools and supplies "disappear" annually from factories, stores and offices all over the country. The alibis are always the same — the ones your husband gives.
These rationalizations are pure nonsense. If a man thinks he isn't being paid enough he should get another job. Stealing is no way to get even.
Since your husband is giving you the "logic" routine tell him to paste this in his hatband:
People who take things from places of employment are common, ordinary thieves. Over a period of years the percentages are strongly in favor of being caught. Ask him if it would be worth all the equipment in the factory to be fired

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Interesting Reading Seen In Notes in Milk Bottles

Baltimore — If the most interesting reading in Baltimore is found not in libraries but in milk bottles.
Take this note, for example: "Dear Milkman: If you see anything funny going on around here, call the police. I think Jack the Bat Man is after me."
Or this one from a working wife: "Knock on the door until you hear my husband get up. If he oversleeps again he'll lose his job, and you will lose a customer."
10th Note a Lulu
Baltimore milkmen say nine out of 10 notes are the run-of-the-mill, "please leave an extra quart" variety. But that 10th one is a lulu.
Milk bottle notes indicate many housewives consider writing paper, dash off notes on paper toweling or facial tissue and then drop them inside the bottles so nobody can get them out.

Some dairies tried to correct this by distributing memo pads, but it didn't work. "Thank you for the nice gift," one woman wrote—on a scrap of newspaper.
Milkmen claim it infuriates any woman to have her note read, then crumpled on her doorstep. One offending milkman got two notes. The first note ordered two quarts of milk, and the second instructed him not to throw the first one on the sidewalk.

Japanese Weaver Wields Absolute Power 3 Days

BY KENNETH ISHII
Amami-Oshima, Japan — From her appearance and talk she is a simple country girl. But to the local villagers, 20-year-old Natsuko Tatsuki is a living goddess.
For Natsuko is a "Noro"—a deity of an almost extinct faith whose very continuance reflects the backwardness of the Amami-Oshima island group 200 miles southwest of Japan's southern tip.
Works as Weaver
Most of the year, Natsuko work as a weaver in a small textile factory in Daikuma village located on Amami-Oshima, the largest of the five islands in the group. And she receives no preferential treatment.
But three days a year — at the fire, water and rice festival — Natsuko wields absolute power over the villagers who conduct primitive ceremonies and present her with food offerings in the hope she will grant them prosperity.
"I became a goddess when I was nine years old," said Natsuko in a rare interview. Villagers refused a request to photograph her in her ceremonial garb saying it would be sacrilegious.
"The Noro before me was my great-aunt. She died when she was 90," Natsuko said. "Then the people of the village consulted the fortune tellers and I was chosen to succeed her."

Best Wishes
Greetings of the season from all of us to all of you!

Natsuko has two ladies-in-waiting and 13 attendants, also women, to assist her in her ceremonial duties conducted in a thatch-roof house provided her by the village.
Because Noro-ism is strictly a matriarchal affair, the village menfolk, during ceremonies, are forbidden to gaze directly into Natsuko's face.
Noro-ism is believed to have its beginnings in Shamanism, the ancient precursor of Japan's Shintoism. Shamanism is a belief in the control of spirits by a medicine man.
Absolute Power
In early times, these female deities held absolute power, but gradually they became ceremonial adjuncts to the local political ruler.
Though at one time there was a Noro in every village, today Daikuma is the only place where Noro-ism remains as a recognizable belief.
Natsuko, whose job of "deity" is a lifetime one, matter-of-factly accepts the honor accorded her, "It's my duty to the village," she says. But, like other girls, she wants one day to get married.

Shoe Resolutions
To help you stay on a good footing in the year ahead — in your own living room as well as on the dance floor — the American Foot Care Institute has prepared a list of New Year's resolutions:
Wear the right shoe for the occasion. For dancing, dates and dress wear — by all means slip into a handsome, foot flattering evening pump. But climb down off those high heels after a few hours and give your leg muscles a rest.
For housework, neighborhood shopping and chasing the baby — stick to a low or medium heeled walking shoe with pliable leather uppers that bend and stretch with every step. Good shoes have lightweight, sturdy leather soles that give you cushioned support and a balanced stride.
Throw Out Old Shoes
Don't make the mistake of stepping into floppy slippers or flimsy canvas or plastic shoes that give you no support during the long day. Clean your closets and get rid of old, sagging shoes that no longer fit properly.
Another day, another shoe. Never wear the same shoe two days in succession. Shoes which have "rested" 24 hours are fresh, comfortable and last longer. If you can, change your shoes during the day, varying heel heights to tone up leg and calf muscles.
Buy shoes for fit. With the multitude of pleasing shoe styles available today, no woman has trouble finding a shoe that "fits like a glove." Today's pliant leather shoes should need no "breaking in" — if they really are your size.

Don't be a "bathroom surgeon." Painful bunions, enlarged callouses or hard corns may require professional treatment. Have your family podiatrist examine them and recommend care.

Eisenhower Family Has Happy Reunion

BY FRANCES LEWINE
Washington — It was a happy family reunion at Andrews Air Force base Tuesday night when Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, gaily dressed in Christmas red, warmly greeted her returning husband, son and daughter-in-law.
She hugged them all and held onto the president's arm in the crush of high ranking well-wishers.
Mamie Pleased
It was obvious Mrs. Eisenhower was pleased at her husband's jovial, ruddy appearance. She had expressed worry over his arduous trip.
For 33-year-old Barbara Eisenhower, who accompanied her famous father-in-law on the 22,000-mile mission, it was the end of the most fabulous journey of her life. Her husband, Maj. John Eisenhower, was served as his father's aide on the tour.
Today, Barbara returns to her role as housewife and mother with her four children in their home near Gettysburg, Pa.
She brought home a collection of exotic gifts and memories of elephant rides, snake charmers, cheering millions and strange lands.
Back home, she jokingly told Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon she was having trouble remembering to say hello after her efforts at greeting in the languages of the 11 countries she visited.
Returns A Veteran
Barbara had stayed out of the limelight in Washington and had never ridden on a jet plane before this journey. She returned a veteran of motorcades, fanfare and huge crowds.
Looking happy, she said she wasn't a bit tired because "I slept on the plane."
She wore a bright blue coat and carried a small Christmas package. She said it was a present for Mamie she wanted to bring personally.
Barbara's four children were not at the airport for the late homecoming. They remained in Gettysburg awaiting a private reunion with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Weiner, 710 1/2 N. Appleton street, and Mrs. Weiner's brother, Walter Brown, will begin observing the Jewish Chanukah holiday at sundown Friday. The 8-day celebration commemorates history's first struggle for religious liberty. A candelabrum or menorah is in the center of the table and one candle will be lit each day signifying added strength which comes to those enlisted in a worthy cause.

Jewish People Mark Chanukah

Chanukah, the 8-day Jewish holiday which commemorates history's first struggle for religious liberty, begins at sundown Friday and extends through Jan. 2.
Originating about 165 years before the Christian era, Chanukah, which means dedication, marks the victory of the ancient Jews over the Grecian army which sought to impose idolatry upon them.
The triumph, according to the Books of the Maccabees, came after years of struggle between the forces of Judah Maccabee and those of the Greek emperor, Antiochus Epiphanes.
Like all Jewish holidays, Chanukah is hailed both in the home and in the synagogue. A special Chanukah ritual, traditional holiday melodies and sermons which emphasize the right to worship God as one sees fit mark the temple devotions.
In the home, the Chanukah candelabrum is lit for eight nights, prayers of thanksgiving to God are recited and gifts are exchanged and also marked for the poor.
The homes are decorated by the children with seasonal flowers in bright colors that are appealing to the child. Red and green are used for there is a flower growing on the slopes and in the forests of Israel called "Dam Hamokkabin," which has a bright red blossom. According to an old legend, wherever a drop of blood was shed by the Maccabee heroes, a flower sprang up.
The Chanukah candelabrum, or menorah, has nine holders. On each night an additional taper is lit, signifying the added strength which comes to those who are enlisted in a worthy cause. The menorah, the symbol of Chanukah, is part of the language of religious ideas giving poetic charm and atmosphere to the festival.

Young Hobby Club 5 Lucky Fox Cities Readers May Win Picture Wallet

BY CAPPY DICK
Color Santa Claus and you may win a plastic picture wallet!
Five Fox Cities boys and girls will be the prize winners in this easy coloring contest. They will be the contestants whose pictures of Santa are judged to be the neatest of all received. One of the winners may easily be you, if you get busy right away.
Use your paints or crayons and make Santa Claus look as gay and handsome as possible. Do this work neatly, because neatness is what counts in this contest.
When the coloring has been completed, clip out the picture and paste it on a sheet of paper or a postal card. Beneath it print your name, age and address. The final step is to address your contest entry to Cappy Dick at the Appleton Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight Friday.
The picture wallets which will be awarded are colorfully decorated with Wild West or circus scenes. Each wallet contains compartments for paper money, coins, papers, cards, snapshots and similar articles. It is a useful prize for any boy or girl to win.

Sergeant Named To Post in USAFR
Lt. Col. Walter A. Weddig, commander of the 9661st Air Force Reserve squadron, Oshkosh, has announced the appointment of Tech. Sgt. Robert E. Mickelson, 1624 W. Commercial street, as assistant to the administrative officer.
Sgt. Mickelson, a reserve educational specialist who recently transferred from a Madison flight, will report to Capt. Merland B. Bersch, the squadron's administrative officer in charge of personnel.

Veterans Should Keep Records Handy for Claims

Veterans administration officials estimate three out of five veterans' widows who are suddenly faced with the necessity of filing claims for pensions meet with delay because they cannot immediately produce copies of public records necessary to establish the claims.
One of the most important steps a married veteran can take to protect his wife and children in case of his death is to obtain and keep readily available a certified copy of the public record of marriage, together with complete certified records of dissolution of any previous marriage of himself or his wife, Francis Heesacker, service officer, said. Copies of birth certificates of all children also should be kept on hand, he added.
One of the most common causes for delay results when the widow or her dead husband has been married previously and adequate proof of the dissolution of that marriage is not readily available, Heesacker said.

Lack Quorum

The scheduled opening of bids to replace some 28 transoms at city hall was postponed Tuesday when the board of public works lacked a quorum. Mayor Mitchell and City Clerk Broehm were the only two board members to show up for the 2 p.m. meeting. The opening will be held at the next board meeting, probably next Tuesday.

Opening lead—D 8
West had a rather doubtful double of three clubs, but he should have landed on his feet. Instead, he found himself in a very difficult position.
West opened the eight of diamonds, and declarer promptly played dummy's queen. East didn't stop to think. "Cover an honor with an honor," he muttered to himself. "Third hand high," was another comforting thought.
So East put up the king of diamonds and gave declarer his contract.
South gratefully won with the ace of diamonds, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then shifted back to diamonds. The defenders could get two trumps, one heart, and one spade, but the contract was safe.
Should Duck
East should duck at the first trick instead of playing the king of diamonds. The opening lead is obviously West's top diamond, either a singleton or the top of a doubleton, so East cannot accomplish anything for his own side by covering dummy's queen.
If declarer immediately leads out three rounds of trumps, West will shift to a spade to force out dummy's ace. Declarer tries one more diamond finesse, but West ruffs and gets out with a heart. South must eventually give up a trick to the king of diamonds.
Instead, declarer may lead the 10 of diamonds from the dummy at the second trick (if East is shrewd enough to play low at the first trick). West ruffs and leads a spade. If South leaves trump alone, West will ruff three diamonds; and if South draws trumps, East will make a diamond trick.
The so-called rules of play are meant to help you when you're too tired to think. Don't worry about breaking such rules when you have a good reason.
Daily Question
Partner opens with one heart, and the next playing passes. You hold: S-K 5 3, H-10 8 6 5 2, D-8, C-Q J 7 2. What do you say?
Answer: Bid four hearts. The jump to game in a major shows about five trumps, a singleton or void suit, and not more than nine points in high-card strength.

Star Breaks Casting Rule; It Pays Off

Richard Egan Plays
Father of Teenager
In 'Summer Place'

BY JAMES BACON
AP Wire-TV Writer

Hollywood — (U) — Richard Egan, a virile movie hero in the tradition of a Gable or a Holden, has committed casting heresy—and it has paid off.

Egan, 37, recently played the father of a grown-up daughter, Sandra Dee, in the movie "Summer Place." At the end, Egan was on his way to becoming a grandfather.

This happens every day in the outside world but rarely on Hollywood sound stages. Movie heroes in their middle fifties may make love to teenage girls on the screen—but their agents forbid them to play fathers of same.

Hard Role to Fill
One casting director reports that the hardest role to fill in the movies is that of a father, 40 or thereabouts, who has teenage children.

"The big agencies won't even show the scripts to the big male stars, some of whom are real-life grandfathers," the director says.

A few years ago Gary Cooper made a film called "Love in the Afternoon." He played a middle-aged roue who carries on a sophisticated love affair with a teenager played by Audrey Hepburn.

Critics loved it, praising the direction, writing and performances to the skies—but the public stayed away in droves despite the proven boxoffice pull of the two stars.

Cooper, in his usual ration of words, explained:

"I should have played her father."

Old Bugaboo
Egan was aware of the old Hollywood bugaboo that movie heroes can only be fathers of grown-up children off screen but it didn't bother him.

"I look old enough to have a 16-year-old daughter. My classmates in college all have them—and some of my students are about to."

Egan was once a professor of public speaking at the University of San Francisco.

His decision has a happy economic ending.

"Summer Place," in which Egan is the biggest boxoffice name, is currently one of Warners' blockbusters.

Wicked Witch Familiar Role

Former Teacher Got Broomstick Start
In 'Wizard of Oz'

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Wire-TV Writer

New York — (U) — Margaret Hamilton is a kindergarten teacher turned actress whose name comes to mind instantly when producers are casting a witch or female Scrooge part.

The witch business started years ago when Miss Hamilton won the wicked witch's part in "The Wizard of Oz." Since then she has ridden many a broomstick, been the stern mistress of the orphanage and has otherwise shown herself to be a rather unpleasant character.

Miss Hamilton's public, however, doesn't hold it against her, because she invariably plays these unsavory characters with a twinkle of humor.

"The only time these characters have any effect on me," confides the actress, "is when I meet the public. They will tell the glamor actors how much they enjoy their performances—but they look at me, laugh and say, 'Oh, You!'"

Plays Other Roles

Miss Hamilton's acting career has included many non-witch parts. She is, for instance, the voice of Emily Tip in a popular cartoon commercial. She has played serious and comedy roles of many dimensions in such Broadway plays and films as "The Dark Tower," and "The Farmer Takes a Wife." Thursday night she will be playing a gay and slightly tipsy inmate of a county home on Playhouse 90's adaptation of "The Silver Whistle."

For some time now, Miss Hamilton also has played a role in the CBS radio series, "The Couple Next Door."

"I love doing radio," she says. "But there's a funny

Warner's Buys
'Music Man' for Film Production

Hollywood — (U) — Meredith Willson's musical, "The Music Man," has been bought by Warner Bros. for what the studio calls one of the top thing about radio now. The mail from the show is large, people all over seem to listen to it. Yet whenever I mention to anyone in broadcasting in New York that I'm doing radio, they just look at me incredulously—as if to say, "radio? What's that?"

Miss Hamilton is a native of Cleveland, is very nice looking when not playing a plain-Jane part and has a son who is a senior at Princeton.

Christmas Song Top Tune in Fox Cities

'Little Drummer Boy' Sung by Johnny Cash, Simeone Choral

BY DICK DISC

The top tune picture changes again this week as a Christmas song hits the top spot. It's "The Little Drummer Boy" by Johnny Cash and the Harry Simeone Choral. It replaces last week's winner, "Heartaches By the Number."

Top tune in the nation, according to Billboard, is "Heartaches," with "Mr. Blue" presently in the runner-up spot.

One new tune makes its debut this week. It's in third place and is called "Running Bear."

Here's the top 10.

1. "The Little Drummer Boy" by Johnny Cash and the Harry Simeone Choral.
2. "Heartaches by the Number" by Guy Mitchell.
3. "Running Bear" by Johnny Preston.
4. "Oh, Carol" by Neil Sedaka.
5. "Why" by Frankie Avalon.

6. "Hound Dog Man" and "This Friendly World" by Fabian.
7. "Way Down Yonder" by Freddie Cannon.
8. "We Got Love" by Bobby Rydell.
9. "El Paso" by Marty Robbins.
10. "Mack the Knife" by Bobby Darin.

The biggest single five years ago was "Mr. Sandman," and 10 years ago "That Lucky Old Sun" was a smash hit.

New Records
Records in review: "Where or When" by Dion and the Belmonts, another number that may be added to their list of successful hits. This once again is a mild rocker with good lead singing by Dion. The other side, another oldie, is called "That's My Desire." Both are good.

"The Sound of Music" by Doris Day. Pretty ballad sung with strong orchestra and choral backing. It's a slow number and is done with a sincere style that is quite pleasant to listen to. Many versions of the tune are now available. It's the title song from a smash Broadway musical.

New in albums:
Faith Album
"The Sound of Music" with Percy Faith and his orchestra. Speaking of the single, the album of music from the entire show is also quite good. The tunes, for the most part, are bright and bouncy—with a few ballads thrown in. Included in the score is the catchy "Do Re Mi," the pretty "So Long, Farewell," and other fine numbers. Instrumentally, the sound by Faith is lively and good.

"Lonely Street" with Andy Williams. To follow up his many successful singles, An-

Como, Crosby Plan
Exchange Shots, Bing's
4 Sons on Both Shows

Hollywood — (U) — Bing Crosby and Perry Como have agreed to exchange guest TV spots—with Bing's four singing sons appearing on both shows.

Como will come west to tape his spot on Bing's show the week of Jan. 11. It will be seen Feb. 29 on the ABC-TV network.

Crosby will reciprocate March 28 when he and his sons will travel to New York to appear on Como's NBC-TV show.

dy has finally come out with a good album. Most of the numbers are ballads: "Lonely Street," "In the Wee Small Hours," and others. Summing it up, good music to cry by.

Two Catholic Parishes Plan Special Masses

Midnight Services to Be Held at St. Mary, Holy Cross Churches

Kaukauna — Midnight masses are scheduled at both St. Mary and Holy Cross Catholic churches along with extra masses on Christmas day as all priests are permitted to say three masses on this feast day.

Music and hymns starting at 11:30 p.m. Thursday will precede the midnight mass at Holy Cross. With Mrs. Paul Nagan at the organ, the choir will sing, "Come Ye To Bethlehem," "Come and Hasten To Bethlehem," "Gloria To God," "Adeste Fideles," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night."

The mass will be "Regina Angelorum" with men to chant the proper of the first mass of Christmas, while the "Est Puer Nobis" will be sung at the Offertory, the "Panis Angelicus" during the Communion. The recessional will be "With Glory Lit the Midnight Air Revealed."

The mixed choir will sing at the 10 a.m. mass, the Holy Name choir at the 6 a.m. mass and the children at the 8:30 a.m. mass.

St. Marys Church
At St. Mary Catholic church the choir under Adrian McGrath, who also serves as organist, will open at 11:15 p.m. Thursday singing, "Lo How A Rose," "Gesu Bambino," and "O Holy Night," and "Veni Creator." The Rev. Gregory Landreman, a student of the parish completing study at St. Paul Seminary, will deliver the sermon.

Adoration at the crib will take place at 11:50 p.m. during which the choir will sing "Today Christ Is Born," and "Silent Night." Celebrant of

Protestant Churches Schedule Christmas Evening Services

School Youngsters to Participate In Most of Traditional Programs

Kaukauna — Four Protestant churches have scheduled special services Christmas evening while two held traditional Christmas programs Sunday night.

At Bethany Lutheran church school children from the fourth through eighth grades will present a program at 7:30 p.m. Thursday opening with a processional hymn, "Come Hither, Ye Children." The Christmas story will then be presented in song and recitation, each grade taking part.

Fourth graders under Miss Carol Artz will present "In A Little Stable," while fifth graders under Mrs. Richard Muehl will present "God Loves Me Dearly."

Mrs. LeRoy Reimer's sixth graders will offer "Let The Earth Now Praise The Lord."

Roger Garton's seventh graders will offer "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and eighth graders under Mrs. Carlton Kuhn will present "The Glory of God's Love." The children and congregation will join to sing "Silent Night," followed by "Angels We Have Heard On High," "Ye Children." The Christmas story will then be presented in song and recitation, each grade taking part.

Trinity Lutheran Children's Christmas services will be held at 6 and 7:30 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran church with youngsters from kindergarten participating in the program will be Sandra Spooner, Steve Brill, John Mooney, Beth Bastian, Nancy Barscau, Grace Krueger, David Lust, Joseph Pitz, Kenneth Koesler, John Goolsbey, Dale Mooney, Allan Jacobson, Pemas, "Gloria In Excelsis Deo," "A Little Child On The Earth Has Been Born," "Bells Are Gaily Ringing," "Away In A Manger," "As With Gladness Men of Old," "Two Little Eyes," and "Silent Night."

The second service by children of grades five through eight will have five parts and will include recitations by various grades. An offering and pastor's message will follow the service.

Songs to be offered at the second service are "God Loves Me Dearly," "Let The Earth Now Praise The Lord," "Silent Night," "Come Your Hearts and the Voices Raising," "How Glad I Am Each Christmas Eve," and "Jesus, Dearest Jesus." The program will close with the congregation and children singing, "Let Us All With Gladness Voice."

Junior and Intermediate choirs will sing during a Candlelight Christmas eve service. The initial service will have nine parts with youngsters singing, "In A Little Stable," "As Each Happy Christmas," "Gloria In Excelsis Deo," "A Little Child On The Earth Has Been Born," "Bells Are Gaily Ringing," "Away In A Manger," "As With Gladness Men of Old," "Two Little Eyes," and "Silent Night."

Alumni Dance Plans Complete

Kaukauna — A ticket committee to help promote participation in the Kaukauna High school Alumni association holiday dance at 8 p.m. Saturday at Van Abel's, Hollandtown, has been appointed by Miss Joann Faust and John Mau, Jr., co-chairmen. Besides the co-chairmen, tickets are being sold by Gene LaBorde, Robert Goetzman, Norbert Noie, Marvin Schuler, John May, Leon Vanderloop, Jerry Klister, Miss Mary Margaret DeClercq, Gilbert Knorr, Joseph McCarty, Jack Damro, Robert Kindler and Carl Chopin.

Tickets are also available at Look drug stores or at Van Abel's. Music for the affair will be furnished by an orchestra from Sheboygan Falls. Although popular among recent high school graduates home for the holidays, the affair is open to all alumni and many older grads are also present for the affair. Miss DeClercq will serve as hostess.

Correction

Kaukauna — LeRoy Weyenberg did not tie a scoring record for a Kaukauna High school cager in his 38-point effort against Neenah Friday night. Weyenberg himself holds the scoring record of 41 points, set against New London in the final game of 1958-59. The Post-Crescent was misinformed.

Lombardi Rates
Colt-Giant
Game Tossup

Believes Packers
Will be Even Better Next Year

New York—(U)—Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers—whose team played both Baltimore and New York—says the Colts-Giants championship contest this Sunday rates as a toss-up.

Lombardi, named coach of the year in the annual Associated Press poll, said the Colts may have a little edge on the offense but the Giants have a little advantage on defense.

Sneaked Up
"One thing, I don't believe the game this year will be the thriller it was last year when Baltimore beat New York 23-17 in a sudden-death overtime," Lombardi said. "I think the game may break open early. Either team could do it."

Lombardi expressed confidence Tuesday that his surprising Packers will be even better next year.

"I don't know whether it will show up in the win and lost column," the 46-year-old Turn to Page 15, Col. 7

Wisconsin Takes Strenuous Morning Drill
As Murky Skies, Chilly Weather Prevail

Pasadena—(U)—Sunny California was anything but that Tuesday when the Wisconsin Badgers stepped up their training pace for their Rose bowl game with Washington New Year's day.

Murky skies and chilly weather prevailed as the Badgers and the Washington Huskies unlimbered in long sessions.

Coach Milt Bruhn limited, Wisconsin to a morning workout but it was a strenuous one. After a half-hour of conditioning exercises—running, rolling, bending and push-ups—he sent his players through long sessions on new passing plays and pass defense. The reserves were on defense.

The Badgers took a sight-seeing tour of a Hollywood studio in the afternoon and in the evening were guests of Washington at a buffet dinner. Bruhn said he expects to have trouble gaining against the strong Washington line and tough defensive backs who play close up but indicated that he might be able to "open up the Husky defense" with some quick passes.

The Huskies usually operate in a wide-tackle, 6-man line with two linebackers playing close. The linebackers put the rush on the passers along with any linemen who can get through.

"It's no picnic playing against that 6-man line when the other team has the right personnel," "Ivy" Williamson, former Badger coach and now the Wisconsin athletic director, said.

Pick Gregg,
Hornung on Second Team

BY JOE REICHLER

New York—(U)—Jarrin' Jimmy Brown was the only unanimous selection in the Baltimore and New York

domin a t e d 1959 all - pro football team picked for The Associated Press by National Football league writers today.

Ringo The explosive fullback of the Cleveland Browns, who led the league in rushing for the third successive season, was named to the first team on all 37 ballots. Ray Berry, Baltimore's brilliant end, and Sam Huff, New York's redoubtable linebacker, missed out on one ballot.

7 Colts Picked
The Colts and Giants, who meet for the NFL championship in Baltimore Sunday, captured 12 of the 22 positions on the offensive and defensive squads. Baltimore landed seven berths and New York five.

Cleveland, San Francisco and the Chicago Bears took two each and Los Angeles, Green Bay, Detroit and Pittsburgh one apiece.

Brown's backfield mates included Johnny Unitas, the peerless passer; Lennie Moore, his Baltimore teammate, and Frank Gifford, the Giants' superlative triple threat.

Del Shofner of Los Angeles, who vied with Berry for league pass catching honors, won the other end berth on the offensive squad.

Jim Parker, the 270-pound Colt tackle, headed a devastating line that included "Rosie" Brown of the Giants in the other tackle position; Green Bay's Jim Ringo at center; and guards Stan Jones of the Bears, and Jim Ray Smith of the Browns.

Ameche on 2nd Unit
The defensive line, with Huff as the spearhead, included Gino Marchetti of Baltimore and Andy Robustelli of New York at ends; Gene "Big Daddy" Lipscomb, Baltimore's man mountain, and San Francisco's Leo Nomellini at tackles; Bill George of the Bears at middle guard and linebacker Joe Schmidt of the Lions.

NOTIONS

When I joined more than 11,000 other basketball-happy fans in the Milwaukee arena last weekend, I expected to be most impressed by Marquette's Don Kojis—who is being boomed by MU as an All-America candidate. Instead, like so many others, I came away singing the praises of the spectacular Walt Mangham. Besides vaulting higher for rebounds than any 6-foot-3 player I've ever seen, the lithe lad with the built-in springs threw eye-opening passes, was a dead shot from the outside as well as inside and harassed Wisconsin's offense no end with four or five interceptions, most of which were converted into easy MU baskets. Walt does a little grand-standing, it's true, but combining authentic talent with showmanship just adds up to that much more entertainment for the fans. See Marquette, if you get a chance, and marvel at Mangham.

Another reason you'll want to watch the MU quint is to see fast-break basketball at its explosive best. The Ed Hickey-style "break"—a treat to behold—was the biggest factor in the Warrior win over the Badgers. Once Mangham or Kojis clears the board, a 3-man charge into the scoring zone is begun with deadly precision and without any wasted motion. Jim Kersten, formerly of Menasha St. Mary, fits in well with the fast-break combination. A reserve for two years and a non-regular at the beginning of this, his last, season, Kersten earned his starting spurs the hard way. Perseverance has finally paid off, and Jim deserves a lot of credit for the effort he has put in. He should become increasingly valuable to the Warriors this season.

When Hickey's Warriors call a time-out, they aren't kidding. The players sit on chairs along the sidelines, while Eddie kneels in front of them, chalking up the floor with hurried instructions. This has got to be more restful for the cagers than standing up on the court during times-out—which is the standard practice.

Though the sophomore-accented Wisconsin team gave away experience and had no one to match the Mangham-Kojis duo, it hung in there well for most of the game. The Badgers showed they have the potential to become mighty tough in another year—and possibly even this season. The Badgers still need more scoring in the front line, but if either or both Frank Burks and Jim Biggs return to action the second semester, this deficiency should be eliminated. The UW gets a break in that 10 of its 14 conference games will be played during the second semester.

Ullweiling We got the impression that the Badgers worked more smoothly without their leading scorer, Marty Gharrry, in the lineup. Gharrry, an individualistic type player, is a big asset when he has a red-hot shooting game; but there have been lapses in his floor play. Appleton's Jack Ullweiling and Madison's Bob Powers are more consistent and do more things well in the backcourt than Gharrry. Powers, who was completely overlooked in the early games, is the real surprise. Ullweiling's scoring has dipped a bit since his 21-point opener, but his all-around play has been exceptionally good. In the MU game, Ullweiling was the floor general (an unusual duty for a soph) and was the best feeder in the Badger lineup. He played the first 36 minutes without being spelled—the longest tenure of any of coach John Erickson's cagers.

The make-up of the UW team is a testimonial to the quality of basketball played in the Fox River Valley area. No fewer than four of the current top eight players were developed in two major Valley conferences: Ullweiling, Tom Hughbanks and Bill Nelson, of the FRVC; and Gharrry, of the Mid-Eastern. Hughbanks, Nelson and Ullweiling all played in the Neenah sectional tournament in 1958. There are those who still don't believe the Neenah sectional is the toughest in the state. The WIAA officials apparently are among that number. For, they've loaded the tourney some more by returning the Green Bay regional champion to the Neenah sectional field for 1960 after a year's absence.

Warriors Shoot 46 Per Cent,
Hand Stanford 63-50 Defeat

Fast Break
Opens Big MU Lead

Milwaukee—(U)—Marquette scored its fifth victory against two defeats Tuesday night by handing Stanford a 63-50 beating in a basketball game that saw the west coast team keep the Warriors in check in the first half but unable to contain them in the final period. It was the second defeat for Stanford in Wisconsin. The Badgers beat the Indians at Madison Monday night, 61-60. The Warriors were given a hard time in the first half when the Indians employed a close man-to-man defense but they got their fast break into action smoothly in the final period to win going away.

Scores 14
Walt Mangham was the only Marquette regular who was able to do much in the first half. He scored 14 points and did great work on rebounds to help the Warriors to a 32-26 lead at the intermission.

The Indians trailed at one stage, 20-18, and at another, 24-22, in the early going before Marquette pulled out in front to stay there.

In the second period, Marquette had a 54-35 lead before Coach Eddie Hickey sent in reserves. The Indians pulled up to 54-43 against the second squad before the regulars came back to put the game on ice.

Marquette's shooting record was 23-for-50 for 46 per cent and Stanford's 20-85 for 23 per cent. Mangham was high scorer with 20 points. John Arrillaga led Stanford with 13.

Buffalo May be Next

Give Dallas-Fort Worth
Continental Franchise

Dallas, Tex.—(U)—Buffalo Fort Worth Star-Telegram appears to be in line for the eighth spot in Branch Rickey's proposed Continental league, observers who talked to the baseball man here today believe.

Rickey and Bill Shea, the original organizer of the Continental, granted Dallas-Fort Worth the seventh franchise Tuesday.

The development came after a 3-hour meeting between J. W. Bateson, owner of the American association, Dallas Ranger franchise; Amon G. Carter, Jr., president of the Dallas-Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Rickey and Shea.

Pete Becomes Head Coach at Illinois,
Forms Brother Act With 'Bump'

Champaign, Ill.—(U)—Pete Elliott has a 1-year contract as football coach at Illinois, but the former Michigan star who has coached at Nebraska and California can look forward to a long tenure.

Elliott will be Illinois' third coach in 47 years. During a third-place finish in 1934.

Eliot had an 81-74-11 mark in 18 seasons, which included two championships, one tie for the title and two Rose bowl victories.

Like Zuppke, Eliot could bring his boys up for that one big upset victory just when disaster appeared on the horizon.

Pete Elliott, 33, a native of Bloomington, Ill., inherits a team which finished with a 5-3-1 record and was regarded one of the strongest in the conference when the season ended.

Ray Eliot, who becomes assistant athletic director by choice, said "He'll have vet. The late Bob Zuppke—painter, wit and upset master—held the reins from 1913 through 1941. Ray Eliot did the coaching from 1942 through last season.

3 Titles For Eliot
Zuppke, a great success in his first two decades, failed to win a Big Ten championship following the departure of "Red" Grange. In fact, from 1930 to the end of his coaching days "Zup" never came close to a title except

Eddie Has Backing
Of Alumni, Press,
Sideline Observers

San Francisco—(U)—Eddie Erdelatz, former Navy coach, is front runner for the vacant job at California, writers in both San Francisco morning newspapers said today.

Erdelatz, whose home is at San Mateo in the San Francisco Bay area, has the backing "of alumni press and sideline observers," according to Curley Grieve, Examiner sports editor.

Recommends Andros
Pete Elliott, who resigned the California coaching job Tuesday with two years of a verbal contract left to run, is taking over the same post at Illinois.

"The 33-year-old Elliott privately recommended that his line coach, Dee Andros, 34, be elevated to the head coach's position," wrote Dick Friedlich, Chronicle football writer. "But the Chronicle learned Tuesday night that ex-Navy Coach Erdelatz had been contacted unofficially within six hours after the announcement of Elliott's departure. A strong alumni movement is forming in his behalf."

Badger Quint
Prepares for Boston College

Madison—(U)—The University of Wisconsin basketball team enjoyed a day of rest Tuesday and returned to drills today to prepare for two weekend engagements in Buffalo, N.Y.

The Badgers have a date against Boston college Saturday. Canisius of Buffalo meets Pittsburgh in the other half of the card in the Queen City tournament. Play will be completed Monday.

Coach John Erickson of the Badgers said he planned to use his usual starters—Bob Barneson and Tom Hughbanks at forwards, Fred Clow at center and Jack Ullweiling and Marty Gharrry at guards.

Badger Marching Band Will Go To Rose Bowl

Madison—(U)—Wisconsin's 57-piece marching band will go to the Rose bowl for their Badgers.

Leroy Luberg, chairman of the University Rose bowl committee reported Tuesday that a campaign to raise $40,000 to finance the trip for the band had been successful. The game is at Pasadena Jan. 1 with Wisconsin meeting Washington. The musicians will leave by train from Madison.

Los Angeles—Pelon Cervantes, 128, Mexicali, Mexico, outpointed Billy Thomas, 126, San Francisco, 10.

Season's GREETINGS TO ALL

Jerry Lucas, one of the hottest sophomores in the nation, helped Ohio State regain its winning form Tuesday night by leading the Buckeyes to a 91-79 victory over Brigham Young.

While OSU was avenging Monday night's loss to Utah, four other Big Ten teams split even.
Iowa took on Loyola of New Orleans and won, 68-60, while Northwestern lost its second straight at Washington, 67-61.
Indiana kayoed Butler, 91-85, and Purdue lost to Notre Dame, 82-79, in the Hoosier classic in Indianapolis.
Finest Performance
Lucas, a 6-8 1/2 sensation, hit on 16 field goals and four free throws for 36 points and the finest performance of his budding collegiate career. He was the difference in OSU's seventh victory in eight games.
Iowa's surprising Buckeyes made it six out of seven and had an easier time with Loyola than the score indicates. The Hawkeyes led, 42-22, at halftime and used 16 players.
Walt Bellamy and Frank Radovich paced Indiana to its fifth triumph in six games with 24 and 21 points, respectively.
Purdue got another excellent performance from sophomore Terry Dischinger who nailed 31 points but Notre Dame's balance won out. Each team had 28 field goals and Purdue made 23 of 24 free throws. However, the Irish hit on 28 of 32 from the charity line. Notre Dame's Mike Graney also had 31 points.
Northwestern stumbled to its fourth loss against two victories. The Wildcats outscored Washington in field goals, 21-20, but the Huskies scored 27 free throws.
Northwestern committed 27 fouls, and four times the Wildcats were hit with technical fouls for complaining to the officials.

sisted of Jimmy Patton of the Giants, Andy Nelson of the Colts, Jack Butler of the Steelers and Abe Woodson of the 49ers.
The second team included such outstanding performers as Alan Ameche and Art Spivey of the Colts; Ray Wietecha, "Chuck" Conerly and "Rosey" Grier of the Giants; Mike McCormack and Walt Michaels of the Browns; Bob Reger and Jimmy Orr of the Steelers; Tommy McDonald and Tom Brookshier of the Eagles; Forrest Gregg and Paul Hornung of the Packers; Frank Fuller of the Cards; Les Richter and Lou Michaels of the Rams; Yale Lary of the Lions; and Bruce Besley and J. D. Smith of the 49ers.
The biggest man on the first team is Lipscomb, the only member of the squad who didn't go to college. He joined the Colts after graduating from Miller High in Detroit. At 6-6 and 288, he is the bulwark of the Colts' defensive line.
Nemellini, Lipscomb's counterpart, is a mere 255. The former Minnesota great, 32 is the veteran of the squad. Shofner, Brown and Woodson, 23, are the youngest. Patton and Nelson, at 180 pounds, are the lightest.

Nelson Signs Bill Restoring Bounties

Madison — Gov. Gaylord Nelson has signed a bill restoring bounties on foxes, wildcats and coyotes but wants the legislature to raise hunting license fees to finance it.
"The conservation department's estimate is that the act will cost $186,803 in the current biennium," Nelson said Tuesday.
The governor said the conservation budget was not prepared to absorb the additional financial burden without cutting into other programs.
Payments provided in the bill are $20 for mature coyotes, $10 for coyote cubs, $5 for wildcats, $2.50 for wildcat cubs, $2.50 for mature foxes and $1 for fox kits.

Redskins' Drazenovich Is Retiring From Game

Washington — After 10 years of National Football league play, Charles "Chuck" Drazenovich of the Washington Redskins is hanging up his cleated shoes.
The standout middle line backer of the Redskins said Tuesday he has definitely decided to retire as a professional player.
Drazenovich, 32, has signed a contract with a corporation which operates a number of bowling alleys in Virginia. He will become manager of an alley being built in a Washington suburb.

LSU All-America Gets 'Very Nice Offer' From Houston; Rams 'Surprised' at News

Baton Rouge, La. — All-America Billy Cannon of Louisiana State said today he had received a "very nice offer" from Houston of the proposed American Football league but denied he had discussed it with a television station newsmen.
Cannon, college football's most honored player, made the denial in a 7-way telephone hook-up with wire service newsmen and reporters from Baton Rouge and New Orleans newspapers. LSU arranged the interview.
Cannon declined to say what the offer included. He said he has not decided whether he will sign with Houston or the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football league. He will make his decision and sign a contract after he returns from Hawaii, where he will play in the Hula bowl Jan. 10, he said.
At the moment, Cannon said, he is concentrating on preparing for LSU's Jan. 1 Sugar bowl date with Mississippi.
In Los Angeles, Gen. Manager Pete Rozelle of the Rams said he was surprised. He said Cannon, the No. 1 choice in the professional draft, "had stated unequivocally he would play for Los Angeles." Cannon said he had received the latest Houston offer Tuesday from K. S. "Bud" Rodriguez.

Cohn Group Buys Out Rosensohn

Has 100 Per Cent Control of Fight Contract

New York — A group headed by Roy Cohn, a New York lawyer, plans to leave for Sweden Sunday to confer with heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson for a proposed title fight with Floyd Patterson.
The group, which hopes to get a license to promote the fight in New York, Tuesday acquired 100 per cent control of the contract for the Johansson-Patterson rematch. Johansson won the title from Patterson last June on a 3-round knockout.
The new group, which had previously bought the 66 2-3 per cent interest of Rosensohn Enterprises held by Vincent Velella, completed the transaction by purchasing the remaining 34 per cent from Bill Rosensohn.
No sum was mentioned but Rosensohn said he had received a "substantial payment." He had been asking $75,000 for his interest.
Humbert Jack Fugazy, 72-year-old promoter of the 1920s, will head the promotion of the 10-man syndicate. He will be accompanied on the trip to Sweden by Cohn, former lightweight champion Tommy Loughran and Bill Fugazy-Jack's nephew.

Boxing Rotten Clear Through, Says Pender

Boston — Professional boxing is rotten clear through and should be abolished for five years, the nation's No. 6 middleweight contender said Tuesday.
Paul Pender, 29, of Brookline, put the blast on boxing, he said, "even though boxing has been good to me."
Pender fights "Sugar" Ray Robinson Jan. 22 at the Boston garden for what is billed in Massachusetts as a world championship bout.
Pender said in a Boston Herald interview that boxing is a dying sport.
"Some people — particularly managers — will regard me as a traitor when they read this but the truth is evident and inescapable," he said.

Panthers are Jittery, Lose To Fordham

Cagers Who Told Of Bribe Attempt Hit 7, 9 Points

Pittsburgh — The Pitt basketball team, rocked by a reported bribe attempt in shades of the black cage scandals of nine years ago, may be feeling the ill effects.
Only Monday Dick Falenski, who had been averaging 17 points a game for Pitt, and John Fridley, the team's top rebounder, reported they had been offered a bribe.
Tuesday night, the jittery Panthers suffered an 80-68 defeat at Fordham with Falenski scoring just seven points, and Fridley nine.

Bob Miller Hits 589 Set

Shotola's 229 Is Highest Line in Coated Pin League

Bob Miller bowled the Appleton Coated league-leading 589 series for the Buckeyes Tuesday evening at Hahn's. One of his games was a 225. Ralph Shotola fired a 229 for the first-place Wolverines (271-201) and finished with a 581.
Mel Griesbach rolled scores of 225 and 555 and Len Spreeman had 551.
In Monday evening's Appleton Coated league action, Werner Stranghoener cracked a 566 for Yellow Cab. Ralph Lex boomed the top game, a 236, for Alko Super Market, and finished with a 560.
Malofsky Motors (28-17) leads the circuit by two games after capturing three line.

Milt Drier Bowls 586 'Comic' Trio

Milt Drier of the Teens blasted a 586 threesome in the latest round of Comic Couples wheel bowling in Hahn's. The Jiggs (18-6) won two games and are three lines ahead of the pack. Shirley Rasmussen hit a 199.
Roger Brandt's 561 for the Salems topped the Cigarette Couples wheel at Hahn's. Rita Mikkelsen blasted a 192 for the Raleighs (18-6) the first-place club. Dee Tesmer shot a 180 and finished with a 544.
Other Comic scores: Milt Ruppel, 567; Sally Nabbefeld, 190.

Bearcats Deal Bradley First Loss, 86-71

Robertson Scores 42; St. Louis and Georgia Tech Win

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati's No. 1 — rated Bearcats and their "Big O," Oscar Robertson, continue to be the scourge of the college basketball courts.
The powerful Ohioans faced their biggest test of the young season Tuesday night and came through with their sixth straight victory.
The victim was previously undefeated Bradley. The Braves, ranked fifth nationally, gave it a good try. Trailing only 38-35, at the half, Bradley trimmed Cincinnati's lead to a point, 44-43. But the Bearcats surged back with nine straight points and were never threatened again as they registered an 86-71 triumph.

As expected, Robertson was the big gun. He hit with 42 points to match his season's scoring average. The high-scoring All-America didn't really get going until the second half. Held to 18 points in the first half, Oscar stormed the basket for 24 markers after intermission. Bobby Joe Mason led Bradley with 21 points.
Other teams in The Associated Press top 10 fared well. Ohio State's third-ranked Buckeyes rebounded from Monday night loss to Utah with a 91-79 triumph over Brigham Young. St. Louis, ranked seventh, whipped Kansas, 66-59. Eighth-ranked Georgia Tech, toppled from the unbeaten list by SMU Monday, edged out Texas Tech, 63-60, for its seventh victory in eight starts. Ninth-ranked Indiana defeated a stubborn Butler team, 91-85, in the opening round of the doubleheader played at the Butler fieldhouse in Indianapolis.

Bombers Tip Rockets In 'Y' Girls League

The Bombers (2-0) posted their second straight victory, 32-29, in latest Appleton YMCA High school Girls Basketball league action, beating the Rockets (1-1). Judy Brown tallied 16 points for the Bombers while Dorothy Schmidt connected on 22 for the Rockets.
The Spudnicks (1-1) tripped the Jets (0-2) by a 21-16 tally. Carol Schommer coined 12 points for the Spudnicks while Trudy Potter tallied 12 for the Jets.

7 Varieties of Trees in State For Yule Use

Wisconsin Grows 2 Million Annually For Holidays

Christmas trees come in a wide range of sizes — and now-a-days a wide range of artificial colors.

But did you know that you can buy seven different varieties of Wisconsin - grown trees? They include black spruce, balsam, fir, white and Norway spruce, and Scotch, Norway and white pine. Wisconsin grows about 2 million Christmas trees annually, an increasing number of them in "plantations." Only black spruce and balsam fir grow wild in northern Wisconsin.

Know by Needles

You'll know the spruce by its sharp, pointed needles. Balsam and spruce needles grow about an inch long. Each year many miles of roping and wreaths are made of Wisconsin balsam.

If you buy a spruce, keep your tree stand full of water. Otherwise the needles will drop before the end of the holidays.

Plantation-grown trees include white and Norway spruce and the three kinds of pines. Pine needles average 3 to 5 inches long and grow in clusters. Scotch and Norway pine must be cut early in November to guard against yellowing.

White pine, though attractive, is less common. The trees sell at a premium when they're properly cared for. This means four or five annual shearings to encourage better branching. White pine grows too open to be desirable in its natural state.

White pine, like balsam, makes good roping and wreath materials.

More Sugar Beets

Washington — The agriculture department said Friday that the acreage limitation for the 1960 crop of sugar beets had been set at 9,174 in Wisconsin, compared with 8,634 in 1959.

All Milk Handlers Warned About Use of Antibiotics

Waupaca — Letters from the county extension office warning of milk adulteration with antibiotics have been mailed to all cheese factories, milk plants and are being mailed to dairymen by some plants.

The letter states "tests are now available and being run every day to detect adulteration of milk with antibiotics. The testing will continue and dairymen must help protect milk with the following recommendations:

1. Put stress on prevention of mastitis rather than treatment.
2. Always allow 72 hours (6 milkings) to pass between the last time a cow is treated with antibiotics and the time milk is marketed.
3. Don't rely on withholding milk from the one quarter, to prevent a mix up. It is better to withhold from all four quarters for 72 hours.
4. When large doses of antibiotics are used in an effort to control other diseases, such as foot rot, the milk from all four quarters should be discarded for 72 hours.

Tests being run now can detect very small portions of antibiotics in large quantities of milk. Waupaca County Agent Joe Walker said. He cast only by individual pro- asks farmers to take heed of duers or handlers.

Marketing Bill Accomplished 3 Important Things

Passage of the state senate's ag marketing bill accomplished at least three important things, William Kaskas, administrative secretary of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, said.

Senator Frank Panzer's (R., Brownsville) bill kept farmers free from excessive control of their farm operations, extended enabling market order legislation to include more commodities and maintained farmers rights to cast their own ballots.

The bill extends the present marketing act to cover all agricultural products, except floricultural, and timber and wood products.

The use of block voting is also prohibited as a means of issuing market orders. Referendum votes on the question of issuing an agricultural marketing order may be held only by individual pro- asks farmers to take heed of duers or handlers.

The County Agent Says

Is it advisable to buy fertilizer in the winter?

Discounts of $3.00 to $4.00 per ton are available from dealers during the winter months. Winter delivery eliminates the problem of delivery trucks traveling soft roads in the spring. Farmers should have their soil tested and then buy fertilizer on the basis of recommendations. Soil samples can be brought to the Agricultural Extension Office, Court House, Appleton, for analyses.

Can a poultryman save money by mixing his own laying mash?

H. R. Bird, poultry specialist at the University of Wisconsin, says you can grow the grain for the mash cheaper at home but a commercial mash offers some particular advantages. Buying a complete ration assures quality ingredients and the price includes mixing cost, transportation and storage charges.

Can corn silage be used as feed for brood sows?

Excellent results have been obtained in some experiments in using this feed. Animals will eat as much as 10 to 12 pounds of silage per day. Unless one takes the precaution to provide a high quality protein supplement plus an excellent mineral balancer, unsatisfactory results will be obtained from feeding corn silage. However, if these precautions are taken, good results can be expected.

What are the possibilities available for preserving venison?

Venison may be preserved by curing, drying, smoking, canning, and freezing. The most popular method is by freezing. Venison can be safely stored from 9 to 12 months. Special Circular 41, "Did You Get That Deer?" is available at the county agents' office, court house, Appleton, and explains cutting the carcass and gives other hints of venison care.

DHIA Rate Hikes, IBM Record Unit Asked by Farmers

Dairy Association of 2 Counties Meets for Annual Progress Report

BY JOHN WELLS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Waupaca — Rate hikes, cutting salaries and installing IBM record systems were all suggested as a means of preventing a net loss for 1960 during the annual Waupaca-Waushara county DHIA meeting.

This year the herd testing association ran $660.48 in the red. Total expenditures were $20,449.11 compared to costs of $21,109.59.

Rates were hiked last year to provide more income. More members meant more laboratory workers and higher salaries for fieldmen. The result was a loss for 1959.

Debate Revenue
After debating possible sources of revenue, members voted to leave the measure in the hands of directors.

Present rates for owner-sampler herds are $24 for the first 10 cows and $1.20 per cow tested over ten. Standard sampler rates are $58 for the first 10 cows and $2.40 for each cow after ten.

Dennis Sexton, president, proposed IBM record systems which would eliminate one office girl. He also said records would be more complete and accurate. The cost of IBM records is $1 per cow, but the directors believe they could charge farmers 84 cents due to the savings of the one less office girl.

Opposed Plan
One farmer opposed the plan because he believed a loss of membership would result. In a standing vote six of the estimated 75 farmers present were in favor of a new record system.

William K. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, sixth district congressional representative, presented the Irish Road 4-H club, Chilton, with a 49-star flag which was flown over the nation's capital. With Van Pelt are from left Franklin Gruber, club president, Nancy Peik, secretary, and John Knorr, treasurer. Missing was Ann Christoph, vice president.

The record system would save $1,500 in secretarial wages, but cost the association $1,440 if they underwrote the program and cost farm-members $7,560.

A rate raise met with opposition because a substantial raise would be needed to cover the loss. The fieldmen receive 60 per cent of rates and 40 per cent of extra dues would go toward reducing debt.

Directors Elected

Directors said all lab workers were placed on straight salaries which may reduce operation costs for 1960.

In election of two directors, Rolland Eager of Hancock was reelected and Leo Ferg of Manawa, replaced by Russell Smith, Waupaca.

Tree Order Limits Off

Conservation Stock Must be Used for Forest Purposes

Waupaca — Tree order limitations for Wisconsin Conservation department supplied trees have been taken off.

Former limits were 10,000 one year seedlings, 50,000 two year seedlings, 25,000 three year seedlings and 2,000 transplants.

Prices per thousand for one year-old Black locust and white ash trees are $19. Two year old Jack pine and Norway pine sell for $10 per thousand while three-year old Norway pine, White spruce, White pine, White cedar and Norway spruce sell for $13 per thousand. Norway pine in the county.

Something New

Automation May Come For Feeding of Hogs

Automation may be coming to the hog barn, agriculture engineers say.

An automatic feeding system that weighs a specified amount of feed for each pen of hogs, carries the feed to the pens and distributes it in hog feeders—all with one turn of a control panel knob each day, has been developed.

It solves the labor problem for a hog feeder who has several hundred hogs in a central finishing house and who is interested in limited feeding for possible more efficient gains and leaner carcasses.

Specialty Made

The automatic feeder fits a 600-hog finishing house. A farmer near Madison built such a building, but after several months of use, it became clear that some labor-saving method of feeding had to be found.

It's easy enough to set up conveyors to carry feed from a central hopper to the self-feeders. But such a simple transplants are $26 and White pine, Norway spruce and White cedar, $30 per thousand and trees.

Trees supplied by the conservation department must be used for reforestation, improvement of woodlands, erosion control, shelterbelts and wildlife plantings, or other conservation projects.

They can not be purchased for resale as living trees or for ornamental or landscaping purposes, Dale Tubbs, Waupaca forester, said.

Applications are available from the forester at the Waupaca county courthouse. Last year, over a million and a half WCD trees were planted per thousand. Norway pine in the county.

Dairy Farmer Can Expect Steady Income

Same Figure for 1960 Expected as Was Received in '59

Wisconsin dairy farmers can expect their net income to stay about the same in 1960 as in 1959.

Fluid milk prices will rise slightly.

Demand for dairy products should be closer to the total supply than in last years. Some milk surpluses will continue.

Milk production should remain about the same in 1960. Production has dropped the last two years.

Looks Calm

The situation looks calm for this coming year. There may be increased milk production beyond next year. The reason—the prospect in the beef industry is for lower prices. Dairymen may start to hang onto more cows. Up to this time dairymen have been culling herds in response to high beef prices.

Consumer demand for milk will increase in 1960 in direct relation to the population increase. Per person consumption should be steady.

Americans consumed more fluid milk, ice cream and non-fat dry milk this year. Use of butter and cheese was steady. Consumption of evaporated milk dropped for the eleventh straight year.

Seek Non-Fats

Milk fat will continue to be at a disadvantage in years ahead as consumers increase preferences for solids-non-fat.

Dairy purchases by the federal government should drop this season. Government purchases this summer were at the lowest level since heavy buying began in 1953.

Butter and cheese in government storage should not climb above the low level of 1959. The government will buy some nonfat powder but not as much as in 1959.

Prices Not Known

The price a farmer gets for his milk after April 1 will depend primarily on the price support levels to be announced before that date. Manufactured milk now is supported at 77 per cent of parity. But because of annual revisions in the parity calculation, the support could be reduced to 75 per cent.

Manufactured milk prices will have little chance of rising much above the support level. Any new dairy legislation next year could change this picture. Feed prices will be lower due to heavy feed grain supplies. Hay is plentiful. But machinery, real estate, interest and tax costs will be higher.

IT'S a winter night, and an angel song ... a giant star, and a tiny stable ... a manger, and straw, and swaddling clothes.

Christmas is a chime ... a boy soprano, and Silent Night ... carolers, and The First Noel ... the tinkle of a bell on a sleigh, of a coin in a cup.

Christmas is Dickens, and Scrooge, and Tiny Tim. It's holly on the door, a candle in the window ... and scent of pine, and the sparkle of tinsel.

Christmas is red and green, and blue and silver. Christmas is white.

Christmas is cards, and ribbons, and tissue paper. It's a trip home, cranberries, and mincemeat pie.

Christmas is cold and warmth ... forgiveness, and a smile. Christmas is a prayer ... a renewed plea for an ancient hope ... For Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men.

Pine Trees Do Well in Clay On Ridge Top

Two Back Furrows Form Mound for Superior Area

Trees planted on heavy clay soil do best if they're planted on top of a ridge such as is formed by two back furrows. This finding could bring a completely new approach to reforestation in the clay soil area around Lake Superior.

In the past the chemical and physical properties of these soils have made the area one of the most difficult for reforestation.

Fires, Grazing Hurts

In every season the physical structure creates problems which hinder plant growth. When snow melts or it rains, the soil become water-logged and tree roots starve for air. During dry spells the clay cracks and the root system is often exposed to the air.

The drouth condition doesn't stop there. If it rains during a dry period, the rain will compact the clay surface soil and water can't get through to the tree roots. And weeds—especially quack grass — compete with pine for the water that is available.

Deforestation followed by farming not only deteriorated the physical structure of the soils but depleted them chemically.

Fires, plowing and animal grazing destroyed the humus layer and lowered the nitrogen content of the soils. Potassium was largely removed by crops or leached away by rain. Phosphorus was "locked up" in organic compounds and became unavailable to plants.

In the spring of 1952 4,000 white pine seedlings were planted at the Ashland branch experiment station. Some seedlings were planted on hand scalped (level spots), others on the bottom of dead furrows and still others on top of ridges formed by throwing two furrow slices together.

Last year planting on top of the furrow slices had increased survival about 25 per cent in comparison with planting on scalped ground and about 50 per cent as compared with planting on the bottom of furrows.

Marks High Producers

Dairy Herd Improvement Group Helps Farmers Raise Milking Profits

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

American dairy farmers have some of the best milk producing cows in the world. They also have some of the poorest.

Of the 24-million cows kept for milking throughout the United States, it is estimated approximately one-third do not produce enough milk or butterfat in a year to return a profit.

Nearly 50 years ago a few farmers in Michigan decided to do something about it.

Hire Tester

They hired a tester to weigh and test the milk of each cow and keep a record of her feed cost and income. The farmers wanted that information so they could cull low producers from the herds and feed the rest more economically.

In the first four years of their pioneer effort these dairy farmers doubled the average profit per cow.

The testing program grew and eventually expanded into the present-day Dairy Herd Improvement association program under auspices of the agriculture extension act.

Visits Herd

A typical DHIA is a cooperative organization of dairy farmers who employ a tester or supervisor to keep feed, production, income and breeding records on their cows.

The fieldman visits each herd in the association once a month, usually arriving at the farm in the late afternoon. During the evening milking he weighs the feed consumed and the milk produced by each cow and also saves a small sample of her milk. He follows the same procedure during milking the next morning. The milk samples are tested to determine the percentage of butterfat. Using the weights and tests for the 24-hour period, he calculates each cow's milk and butterfat production for the month.

Two plans for testing are used. The first is the standard plan where the fieldman comes to the farm.

Farmer Takes Sample

This plan is suitable for those farmers who desire a more official type record on their herds. Outagamie County Agent John E. Powers said.

The other, the owner-sampler plan, is done by the farmer. He takes his herd samples monthly in bottles left at the farm by the association fieldman and reports the weight of milk night and morning for each cow. The samples are picked up the next morning, tested and calculated at the DHIA laboratory. Under this plan the fieldman does not stay at the farm. Record keeping for this plan is done by the member and DHIA staff. The farmer records all data on a set page in a record book. Once a month he submits this to the DHIA lab for tabulating.

Dairy cows enrolled in the DHIA program returned an average profit to herd owners of $78 per head in the nation in 1958, the agriculture department said. This average compared with $28 returned by the average for all cows in this country, it said. Outagamie county had 511 herds on test in November of 1958. In November, 1959, there were 537 herds on test. Of this number, 94 were standards and 443 owner-sampler. There were 15,184 cows being tested monthly, or 27.9 percent of the county's cows.

Winnebago county has 32 per cent of its cows on test and Calumet county has 22.4 per cent, or 65 standards, 26 owner, sampler, 18 on IBM (automatic record keeping) and one on milk meter.

Rates in Outagamie county are $132 a year for standard and $69 for owner-sampler. Winnebago county farmers pay $144 for standard and $72 for owner-sampler. Any profit in the co-op is divided among member farmers.

Soils Theme Of Contest

Speakers to Give Conservation Talks At Waupaca Jan. 7

Waupaca — Soil and water conservation will be the theme of speakers participating in the third annual soil conservation district speaking contest Jan. 7 at the Waupaca courthouse.

Some entries for the event have already been filed with the soil service or county superintendent's office, but entrants may enter up to the last day.

Speaking divisions are available for juniors, youth and adults. The junior class includes all elementary school pupils through the eighth grade. The youth class includes high school students and any person who has not reached his 21st birthday by Jan. 1, 1960. Adult classification is for any person over 21 years old.

Several areas of conservation may be covered, but emphasis must be placed on soil and water conservation.

Winners at the local level will enter one of the seven district contests. Winners there will compete for state awards of savings bonds.

Judges for the Waupaca event will be John Nimlos, SCS agent, Joe Walker, county agent, and an area speech instructor.

Tokyo Raiders Leave Trophies At AF Academy

Air Force Academy, Colo. — Eighty silver cups have been presented to the Air Force academy by Jimmy Doolittle, who led one of the boldest raids of World War II to bomb Tokyo from the aircraft carrier Hornet on April 18, 1942.

The cups, pride of the Tokyo Raiders, are being kept at the academy for display and safekeeping. They will be picked up each year for the annual Tokyo Raiders' reunion.

The Raiders drink a toast to departed members at each reunion. A bottle of brandy is in the center of the trophy case containing the cups. The last survivor will drink the bottle of brandy.

Two Hospitalized As Icy Highways Lead to Crashes

Accidents Numerous in County, Twin City Roads

Neenah — Two persons were hospitalized and three others treated at hospitals and released as the result of accidents in Winnebago county Tuesday. Icy roads were cited as factors in the numerous crashes in the county and cities.

Injured seriously in an accident on Highway 110 in the town of Oshkosh at 9:09 p. m. Tuesday was Sally Weber, 20, of 1909 Alaska street, Oshkosh. She received a severe forehead laceration, a possible skull fracture and a lacerated lip.

X-rays are to be taken today. She was a passenger in a car driven by Robert L. Krueger, 20, route 1, Winneconne, which struck the rear of a car driven by Barbara A. Engelke, Oshkosh. The Engelke car, headed east on Highway 110, had pulled off to the side of the road prior to making a left turn and was struck in the rear by the Krueger car, which skidded on the slippery road.

Treated at Mercy hospital and released were Krueger, his brother, David, 18, and Carmen Weber, 18, a sister of the hospitalized girl. They were taken to the hospital in the Miller ambulance.

In Neenah Hospital Hospitalized at Theda Clark hospital was Miss Ruth D. Brotz, Randolph, whose car struck the rear of a car driven by Roy H. Zeh, Jr., 29, route 1, Larsen at the Highway 41 and Breezewood lane intersection in the town of Neenah at 4:48 p.m. Tuesday.

Zeh had stopped to avoid colliding with another car. Miss Brotz received a bad laceration of the nose, her lower lip was cut completely through and she received contusions of the chest. She was taken by Zeh to a Menasha physician who took her to the hospital.

No one was injured in an accident at Highway 47 and County Trunk P in the town of Menasha at 12:08 p.m. Tuesday involving cars driven by Joan A. Gerow, 300 E. Sixteenth street, Kaukauna and Lawrence H. Koepke, 1706 S. Carver lane, Appleton. Both were headed north on Highway 47 and the Koepke car had come off County Trunk P to go north.

Cars driven by Donald M. Dahl, Jr., 21, 633 S. Commercial street, and Carol Elaine Otto, route 1, Fremont, were damaged in an accident on Highway 41 north of the Fixie road in the town of Neenah at 3:53 p.m. Tuesday. Dahl, who was going south, said his right wheel got off the pavement and onto the shoulder and he slid across the icy road into the path of the Otto car which was headed north. She said she skidded in trying to stop to avoid a collision.

Two Neenah graders were Turn to Page 2, Col. 1

Menasha to Have 2 New Firemen Menasha — Two new firemen were appointed Tuesday night by the police and fire commission. They will fill newly created posts on the department and will begin Jan. 7.

They are Walter Akstulewicz, Jr., 1030 Third street, and Lyman W. Depner, 22 Broad street. Akstulewicz is married and has one child. Depner and his wife have two children.

The new appointments are the first in nearly two years. Expansion of the department was urged in 1957 by the fire insurance rating bureau. Strength now is 17 men.

Eight other men who wrote the examinations Monday night are being kept on the reserve list.

No Garbage Pickup Menasha — No garbage will be collected Friday, Christmas day, in the normal Tuesday-Friday districts, Health Officer H. O. Haugh announced today. The normal schedule will be resumed in those areas next Tuesday.

Pleds Innocent to Stop Sign Charge Menasha — Maurice C. Stack, 25, 1707 S. Peabody street, Appleton, today pleaded innocent before Police Justice Arthur J. Ales of ignoring a stop sign.

Ales set trial for 9:30 a.m. Jan. 13. Stack is accused of failure to stop for the sign at First and DePere streets Monday morning.

Roman C. Walbrun, 22, 317 Lisbon avenue, forfeited $100 and costs for speeding. He was clocked at 37 m.p.h. on Tayco street Monday night.

Foundry Union To Take Strike Vote on Jan. 2

Negotiations With Company Fail to Produce Agreement

Neenah — A strike vote has been set for 1 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 2, by the Neenah Foundry company local No. 121 of the International Molders and Foundry Workers union. The vote will be taken at the Neenah Legion hall on Harrison street.

Owen Dalton, union local president, said today the strike sanction has been approved by 100 per cent of the union membership.

The basic issue, he said, is a union shop agreement which the company is reported to have denied. Other proposals, including wages, which the company has offered have been inadequate, the union felt.

A representative of the federal mediation and conciliation service met with the company and union officials last Saturday but no agreement was reached. Negotiations, Dalton said, have been underway for about a month.

Denies Charge of Drunken Driving Oshkosh — Frank Fredrickson, 55, 3005 Shorewood drive, Oshkosh, pleaded innocent of drunken driving when arraigned before Acting Municipal Judge Herbert J. Mueller this morning. Trial was set for 3 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 4. Fredrickson was arrested after a minor accident in Oshkosh Tuesday.

Hospital Fund Total Exceeds $4,248,900

Tops Goal by More Than $398,000; Invest in Bonds

Neenah — A total of $4,248,953.63 in cash and pledges — more than $398,000 over the recent fund drive goal — has been contributed to the Theda Clark Memorial hospital building fund, Alden H. Christianson, auditor, reported today.

New donations of more than $8,000 received in 199 subscriptions were included in the latest audit report. Largest total was $6,453 in 183 group section donations with $860 more from 11 subscriptions in the team section, $40 in three gifts from the area section, $400 in a special gift and $300 in an advance gift.

Excess funds over the $3,850,000 campaign goal are being held to complete the fifth and sixth floors of the new building when they are needed. When the hospital addition is constructed those two floors will be only "shelled in" until the time when hospital usage requires the additional patient room.

Section Totals The group section of the campaign — persons employed in firms with 10 or more employees — has raised $712,782 in 11,832 gifts. Total contributions from the team section — individuals and small businesses — have amounted to $56,225 in 766 subscriptions.

Area section contributions to $56,225 in 766 subscriptions. Area section contributions to $56,225 in 766 subscriptions. Area section contributions to $56,225 in 766 subscriptions.

The special gifts contributions amount to $400,302 in 193 subscriptions and 47 donors in the advance gifts classification gave $1,333,152. The "family" corporations — those represented by trustees on the hospital board — have given $1,555,561 in 24 subscriptions.

Invest Cash Cash contributions have totaled $1,167,258 with the rest in pledges and payroll deduction plans. The cash on hand has been invested in short term government loans, thus earning dividends until the money is needed to pay for the hospital construction which is scheduled to get underway next fall.

As payroll deductions start to come in a schedule will be set up to correlate the investments with the time coming due, thus earning the highest possible return, Ambrose Owen, hospital treasurer, explained.

Move Office The Theda Clark Memorial hospital building fund office now has been moved from its S. Commercial street location to the hospital itself. Payroll deduction payments, starting in January, will be made by the employer who will remit the deductions periodically to the hospital.

Direct payment pledges will be billed to the subscriber on the last day of the month prior to the due date of the pledge. Christianson and his staff of volunteer auditors will continue to audit the building funds.

Greetings

We extend glad greetings to all our friends and neighbors.

May you find happiness with your near and dear ones, and may heart's content be among your holiday gifts.

Involved in accidents within 20 minutes with the same driver, Thomas W. Smith, 17, 534 Fairview avenue, who was so distracted at the first accident that he failed to see the grader blade and had the left front door of the car he was driving damaged in the second accident.

The first accident happened at 12:30 a.m. on N. Park avenue, when Smith skidded into the left rear tire of a stopped grader, damaging the front end of his car. The grader was operated by Kenneth C. Ratzburg, 28, 632 Wilson street.

The second accident happened in the 500 block on E. Wisconsin avenue at 12:50 a.m. He said he was so "shook up" from the first accident that he did not see the grader blade. The grader, operated by Martin F. Damrau, 38, 412 High street, was on the south side of the street, headed east and Smith was going west.

Line of Traffic

Mrs. Esther Lauson, route 1, Neenah, complained of a sore neck as the result of a 3-car line of traffic accident involving her car and cars driven by Dale R. Collier, 27, route 1, Neenah, and Eldon W. Blohm, 42, 221 E. Cecil street. The accident happened on S. Commercial street near the Galloway company at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday when Collier stopped and was struck in the rear by the Lauson car which in turn was hit in the rear by the Blohm car.

Damaged in an accident at N. Commercial street and Nicolet boulevard at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday were cars driven north on N. Commercial street by Glen M. LaRue, 29, 902 W. Foster street, Appleton, and east on Nicolet boulevard by Martin R. Luebke, grader, damaging the front end of his car. The grader was operated by Kenneth C. Ratzburg, 28, 632 Wilson street.

Cars driven by Mrs. Stanley Nielsen, 970 Zemlock street, Neenah, and Donald H. Biehl, 42, 132 Andrew street, Neenah, were damaged when her car struck his at the Harrison - Main street intersection at 8:40 p.m. Tuesday. His car had stopped at the arteriole sign was struck from behind by Martin F. Damrau, 38, 412 High street, was on the south side of the street, headed east and Smith was going west.

Police Chief Peter Clark warned Menasha streets must be cleared of parked cars between 2 and 6 a.m. daily, so street plowing may be carried on unhampered. Any cars left out without permission of police will be towed away and the owners ticketed, he promised.

The night parking ordinance, he added, is year-around in effect, so street sweeping may be carried on during other than winter months.

Thomas Gosha, 18, 501 S. Story street, Appleton, told police he was unable to stop his car in time to avoid its striking the rear of one driven by Richard A. Schneider, 26, route 2, Menasha. Both were northbound. The accident was at 11:50 p.m. Tuesday on Washington street.

A car driven by Robert W. Lang, 16, 713 Appleton street, Menasha, struck the rear of one driven by Gerald Burke, 18, 222 Water street, Menasha about 12:01 a.m. today at Ninth and Racine streets.

More Accidents

Cars driven by Betty M. Woehler, 1917 N. Harriman street, Appleton, and Lawrence J. Dombrowski, 31, 620 DePere street, Menasha, collided at the Center - Water street intersection at 2:49 p.m. Tuesday. The drivers said they were unable to stop.

At 3:55 p.m. Tuesday, the halted truck of Herbert D. Young, 41, 625 Fifth street, Menasha, was hit from behind by a car driven by Dennis J. Freund, 16, 1231 Campbell street, Neenah, at Ahnaip and Nassau streets.

Cars driven by Erbin Hasenberg, 50, 1103 E. Parkway, Oshkosh, and Milton Breening, 35, 231 1/2 Martin street, Neenah, collided as the latter was emerging from the Gilbert Paper company parking lot on Ahnaip street at 3:10 p.m. Tuesday.

The Water - Mill street junction was the scene of a 2:15 p.m. Tuesday collision involving autos operated by Alexander L. Schmitzer, 20, 359 Eighth street, Menasha, and Mrs. Herman Reddin, 885 Reddin avenue, Neenah.

Hits Stop Sign

Richard Witter, 34, 409 Ninth street, Neenah, was the driver of a car which struck a stop sign and sand box at Third and DePere streets about 9:35 a.m. today.

An auto operated by Mrs. Robert Doucette, 724 Milwaukee street, Menasha, and a truck driven by Michael Wallace, 20, route 1, Menasha, were involved in a collision at Third and Milwaukee streets Tuesday afternoon.

At 12:33 p.m. Tuesday, the auto of Miss Nancy L. Taves, 108 Madison street, Menasha, was struck from the rear by one driven by John S. Newberry, 40, Wausau.

A minor collision at Third and Tayco streets Tuesday afternoon also was investigated.

Shirtwaist Dress Wins Sewing Sweepstakes

That all-American favorite, the shirtwaist dress, sailed triumphantly into the season in many versions. One of the most effective is the slim-skirted silhouette in light weight wool tweed, jersey or flannel.

An ambitious home seamstress could make several of these flattering, useful dresses in different fabrics and colors using the same basic pattern. Local sewing center experts chose a black-and-white wool tweed with collar and belt of black velvet for a sample dress. It's easy to make if you follow their tips. They recommend that you reinforce underarm seams

Act Fast To Remove Yule Stains

Oshkosh — An almost inevitable aftermath of holiday entertaining is stains on fabrics. If you have stains on linens, the best advice is to work fast, says Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent.

Ordinarily most stains can be removed from washable fabrics with soap or detergent suds if soaked or sponged almost as fast as they happen.

To remove candle wax, scrape off excess with table knife, sponge with cool water and wash in hot suds. For ball point ink stains, apply carbon tetrachloride first, then wash at once with warm suds.

Remove pitch stains immediately with a nonflammable, nontoxic cleaning fluid. Starting on the outside of the stain and working in, apply in small quantities with an eye dropper. Blot with clean, white cleansing tissue. Repeat as often as necessary.

Soft drink stains are usually colorless at first, but may turn brown if allowed to stand. Therefore, they should be removed at once by sponging with cool water or with equal parts of alcohol and water. Rub glycerine into the stain and let it stand one-half hour. Then rinse with water and launder in hot suds.

Wheel Identified as Part of Crash Plane

Panama — An aircraft tire and wheel found floating in the Caribbean has been identified as part of a Colombian airliner that disappeared Dec. 8 with 46 persons aboard.

The maintenance chief of the airline, the Sociedad Aerea Medellin, reported the tire had the company markings and the same serial number as that of the missing twin-engine C46.

The plane disappeared on a flight from San Andres Island, off the coast of Nicaragua, to Cartagena, Colombia. The wreckage was found by fishermen 25 miles off Panama's Caribbean coast in the general area of the plane's route.

where extra strain occurs. This is done most easily by using a fine zig-zag stitch on either your automatic slant-needle sewing machine or the zigzag attachment for straight-needle machines. This stitch adds flexibility and allows the fabric to "give" without ripping.

Velvet Collar

The velvet collar of the dress will have a crisp, more tailored look if an interfacing is used. To do this, mark the seam allowance and the fold line of the collar on the interfacing. Set your machine for a medium-large zigzag stitch. Multiple rows of the zig-zag stitching placed across the back and covering the area from the fold line to the neck edge will make for a more easily shaped collar. You are cautioned not to stitch into the seam allowance.

To prevent sagging and stretching of the slender skirt, a half skirt lining is advised. This also helps prevent wrinkling.

Actor Jackie Coogan Hurt in Auto Crash

Los Angeles — Actor Jackie Coogan suffered facial and head injuries when he wrecked his sports car in the Brentwood district Tuesday night, police reported.

Officers said they found Coogan stunned and unable to speak after his car slammed into a parked auto on San Vicente boulevard. But doctors at UCLA medical center said Coogan was not seriously injured.

Coogan, 45, gained fame as a child actor. One of his biggest successes was with Charlie Chaplin in "The Kid."

Graders Begin Snow Plowing During Night

Neenah — Three city graders went into service at 10 p.m. Tuesday and six snow plows into use this morning to clear Neenah streets of the snow which fell Tuesday.

Sanders were put into operation during the afternoon Tuesday to cut down the slipperiness of the streets during the snowfall.

Skating Rink Open In Menasha Park

Menasha — The Racine street park skating rink now is open, the Menasha park and recreation department announced today.

Music, supervision and a warming shed will be provided. The rink is open from 4 to 10 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 5 and 6 to 10 p.m. Saturdays during the winter season.

Marinated Venison Good for Roasts, Chops; Cook Like Beef or Lamb

Venison cuts are similar to beef and lamb. The characteristic "game" flavor is concentrated in the fat. One can avoid having too strong a wild flavor by trimming off all the fat and then tissue (called fell) from the meat. Trim the fat off the meat just before preparation — not before freezing.

If the meat has too gamey a flavor you may use a marinade which will lessen it. If the marinade contains an acid such as vinegar, lemon juice or tomato juice it will tenderize the meat.

A marinade generally has an oil base. French dressing with some additional seasoning makes an excellent marinade. Inexpensive burgundy wine may also be used.

The loin or back of the venison is excellent for steaks, roasts or chops. The shoulder may be ground or used for pot roasts. The rump, if from a young animal will make an excellent roast. The round can be made into Swiss steak or pot roast. The remainder of the carcass is generally used for ground meat loaf or mincemeat.

Additional Fat

Venison, like most wild game, has very little fat covering. Because of this, additional fat must be added in the cooking process. Ground venison for meat loaf may call for ground pork. Bacon strips or strips of salt pork are often placed on a venison roast, or slits can be cut in the meat and strips of fat inserted, to make it more palatable.

Standard methods of meat cooking are most successful. Bay leaves, thyme, garlic, savory, tarragon, sour cream and mushrooms may be added to suit one's taste.

Use fairly low temperatures when cooking. Roasts using the dry-roast method should be cooked at 300-350 degrees. Venison should be served piping hot. Plan the meal as you would around beef. Wild rice or noodles may be used instead of potatoes. A tart jelly such as currant jelly complements the venison flavor.

Venison Swiss Steak — One and one-half pounds round steak, three large onions, one medium stalk celery, one cup tomatoes, two tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Steak should be one and one-half inches thick. Dredge with flour, season with salt and pepper, then brown in fat. When brown on both sides add other ingredients. Cover tightly and cook in medium oven (350 degrees) or over low flame on top of range until tender, about one and one-quarter hours. Remove meat to warm platter and make gravy from drippings in pan.

Venison Pot Roast with vegetables — (shoulder, rump, round) Three to four pounds venison, five whole carrots, 5 whole potatoes, five whole onions. Turnips and celery may also be added. Dredge meat with flour, salt and pepper and brown in fat. Braise the meat for two to three hours over very low heat. When the meat is tender, add the vegetables and cook until they are done. Make a gravy of the liquid in the pan and pour over meat and vegetables.

Braise Venison (shoulder, neck, breast) Three pounds venison, three slices salt pork, salt and pepper, flour, one-fourth cup fat, one-fourth cup water, one-half tablespoon vinegar, one-half cup chopped celery, one carrot diced, one tart apple chopped, one-half tablespoon lemon juice. Lard venison with salt pork. Rub with salt and pepper, dredge with flour. Brown all sides in hot fat. Add hot water and vinegar. Cover closely and cook until tender about two and one-half hours, adding more water if needed. One-half hour before meat is done add remaining ingredients. Cook until vegetables are tender. Serve with a tart jelly.

Khrushchev's American Trip Picked Top 1959 News Story

BY TOM HENSHAW

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's September tour of the United States has been chosen the biggest story of 1959 by news editors in the annual poll of the Associated Press members.

Second was the spectacular succeeded in taking the first picture of the lunar backside. Both events had sobering aspects for the western world. The Khrushchev tour gave the American people their first closeup look at their arch-enemy in the cold war as he moved from coast-to-coast, now affable, now ominous, never indifferent.

Multi-Personality

He showed himself to be a man who could be charming, crude, witty, dour, threatening — and, most important, dangerously quick — tempered for the leader of one of the world's greatest powers. The visit enabled Americans to make a new assessment of Khrushchev and he emerged as a tough, highly competent and dangerous antagonist, far from the buffoon he has been pictured in the past.

The Russian moon probes indicated that the Russians are considerably ahead of the United States in rocketry.

The Sept. 14 rocket was the first man-made object to land on the moon and the probe of Oct. 6, equipped with a camera, was the first to orbit the moon, transmitting its picture by radio.

Castro's Troubles
Dr. Fidel Castro's ouster of the Batista regime in Cuba on Jan. 1 and his troubles during the year was the editors' choice as the third top story of the year.

Castro, whose long, seemingly hopeless revolt against strongman Batista gained him world sympathy, turned admiration into disillusionment in a welter of summary executions and angry taunts at the United States.

The editors' top choices in domestic stories, Nos. 4 and 5 in the poll, had a negative quality.

Steel Strike

The first was the steel strike, the longest (116 days) steel shutdown in history, which slowed the American economy before a government injunction sent the workers back to the mills. The strike may resume when the injunction expires in January.

Next came the TV quiz show scandals, which actually began a year early but reached a climax in 1959 when Charles Van Doren, once the nation's intellectual hero, admitted having been given the answers.

Like the top two, the sixth, and seventh stories on the editors' polls were closely allied.

Dulles, Ike Stories

President Eisenhower's growing direction of the country's foreign affairs, illustrated by his personal diplomacy jaunts through Europe, Asia and Africa, was No. 6.

But had it not been for the death of Secy. of State John Foster Dulles, Ike probably would not have stepped into the breach. Dulles' death and the appointment of Christian Herter as his successor was No. 7.

Other choices in the editors' top 10:

8. Vice President Nixon's tour of Russia, during which he opened the American fair in the Soviet capital and engaged in a public verbal joust with Khrushchev.

9. Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, which formally became the 49th and 50th states of the union when Eisenhower signed their statehood bills. They were the first new states in 47 years.

10. The new labor relations law, the first passed by congress since Taft-Hartley in 1947. Passed after mounting indications of corruption among organized labor's leadership, it placed added restrictions on unions, particularly their leaders.

Pack 39 Gives 8 Awards, Takes In 7 New Boys

Neenah — Eight members of Cub pack 39 received awards at the December pack meeting at Hoover school. Two boys transferred in from other cities and five new members were inducted.

Awards were given Gary and Steven Seymour, Alan Sherwood, Arthur Volkman, Eric Radtke, Carl Olsen, John Swietlicki and Daniel Sundan.

New members are Kim Herzfeldt, Mark and Ricky Luft, Jim Bigalke and Jerry Donovan. Transferred in were Dick Warner and Arthur Volkman.

Mrs. Richard Luft and Mrs. Edward Piekarsz were named den mothers.

Post Office Business Shows Slight Increase

More Even Flow of Mail in Dec. 12-21 Period in Menasha, Backes Reports

Menasha — A slight business increase marked the current Christmas mailing season at the Menasha post office.

Postmaster John Backes today reported the period from Dec. 12 to 21, inclusive, was characterized by a more even flow of mail through the Menasha office, as was the case in Neenah.

Incoming parcels showed a marked increase, Backes said. This year, local postmen delivered 8,829 packages, compared to 8,117 in the same period last year.

Outgoing parcel post figures for 1959 and 1958, respectively, are 9,761 and 9,405. Meter sale postage accommodated 4,107 of the outgoing parcels with receipts of $1,856 this year, compared to $1,483 and $1,826 respectively.

Cancellations, another gauge of business, totaled 310-300 for the Dec. 12-21 period this year. Last year, 309,650 pieces went through the cancelling machines in the same period.

In both Christmas mailing periods, 22 extra employees were used. Three vehicles were secured from the Wisconsin National Guard to help in pickup, dispatch and delivery of mail.

No jumps were encountered this year, Backes said, because mailing was more even. Several days had over 40,000 cancellations, spreading the load over more time and eliminating high peaks.

Libraries to Close At Noon on Thursday

Neenah — The Neenah Public library and the Elisha D. Smith library will close at 12 o'clock noon Thursday and will reopen at 9 a.m. Monday. Librarians Ernest R. Kurnert and Marvin Melick announced today.

The libraries will be open only from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Assistant Home Agent Resigns Post

Jeanette Thomas Will be Moving to Waukesha Feb. 1

Oshkosh — Mrs. Jeanette Thomas, assistant home agent for Winnebago county, submitted her resignation today to the agricultural and education committee of the county board. The resignation is effective Feb. 1.

Mrs. Thomas began work here as assistant home agent on Feb. 1, 1957, immediately after her graduation from the University of Wisconsin where she majored in home economics.

Her activities included work with the 4-H program, farm and home development activities and a small part in the homemakers program.

A native of Arlington in Columbia county, she is hired jointly by the county and the agricultural extension service of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture.

She and her husband, John Thomas, are moving Feb. 1 to Waukesha where he will teach art in the public schools there. He has his master's degree in art from the University of Wisconsin and will complete securing his education credits at Oshkosh State college in January.

members were given Christmas treats at the pack's party Wednesday.

Inventory Filed On Property of Olene P. Keese

Oshkosh — An estate of $92,000 was left by the late Olene Peterson Keese, route 2, Neenah, operator of Olene's Dress shop in Neenah, according to an inventory filed Tuesday with County Judge Herbert J. Mueller.

The dress shop made up a large part of the estate, including $27,350 for 1,000 shares in Olene's Shop, Inc., $27,000 for the store building and $5,369 in store fixtures.

Her entire estate was left to her husband, B. W. Keese. Listed among the heirs in the estate of Harry C. Wall, Oshkosh, who died Dec. 16, is Mrs. Mary Wall Davis, 713 Elm street, Neenah. Wall's estate has been estimated at in excess of $50,000 in personal property and $25,000 in real estate.

Judge Mueller set Jan. 19 for the admission of the will, Roemer Petition.

A petition filed for probate of the estate of the late Wil-

Policemen of The Fox Cities

(This is another in a series of stories on Fox Cities area policemen.)

James E. Hawley, 30, of 207 Crescent drive, Neenah, has been on the Neenah police force since May 1, 1953. He was promoted to squad car driver in March, 1957. He is married and has two sons. He was employed by Kimberly-Clark corporation prior to joining the force.

William J. Roemer, Menasha, a retired lumberman who died Dec. 17, listed the value of the estate as being unknown and undetermined. Eighteen heirs and beneficiaries, including the widow, the Monte Alverno retreat house at Appleton and the St. Joseph Cemetery association at Appleton, are listed on the petition. The will of the late Kate Hummel, Menasha, sister of the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Hummel, was admitted to probate Tuesday. Her entire estate was left to a niece, Mary Rieger, Menasha. The estate had been valued as upward of $10,000. She died Aug. 12, 1958.

Tallies 152 Points in 6 Tilts; Titans Meet Winona Next

Oshkosh — Former Menasha St. Mary scoring star, Ron Dibelius, is far in front in the Oshkosh State college point column with 152 points in six games.

Dibelius, who has 35 and 36-point game efforts to his credit, has made 53 field goals, 46 free throws and committed 19 personal fouls. He has missed only nine of 55 free throw tries.

Oshkosh's Mike Grabner is second with 57 points and Oshkosh's Jim Lettenberger and Dennis Sommers of Hortonville are tied for third with 54. Whitley Kaufman, Oshkosh has 49.

Other totals included Gordy Selbach (Menasha) 42, Dean Austin 34, Bob Karisny (Menasha) 30, Jim Davis 23, Pat Trudell five, Cameron Gorges four and Rog Bartel three.

The Titans, who currently have a 3-3 record, including 1-1 in college conference play, make their next start in the OSC holiday tournament next Tuesday, meeting Winona (Minn.) State.

Tri-City Boaters Make Plans for Future Meetings

Neenah — Plans for future meetings of the Tri-City Boating club were made at the first executive board session Tuesday night at the home of Commodore Armond J. Sonnentag.

Officers will be installed at the January meeting and a potluck dinner is planned for the February session, at which each member is to bring a guest. Meetings are planned at the Whiting boat-house on the first Wednesday of every month.

The new Wisconsin boating law will be discussed at a future meeting when a conservation department representative or state legislator will be on hand to explain the new regulations.

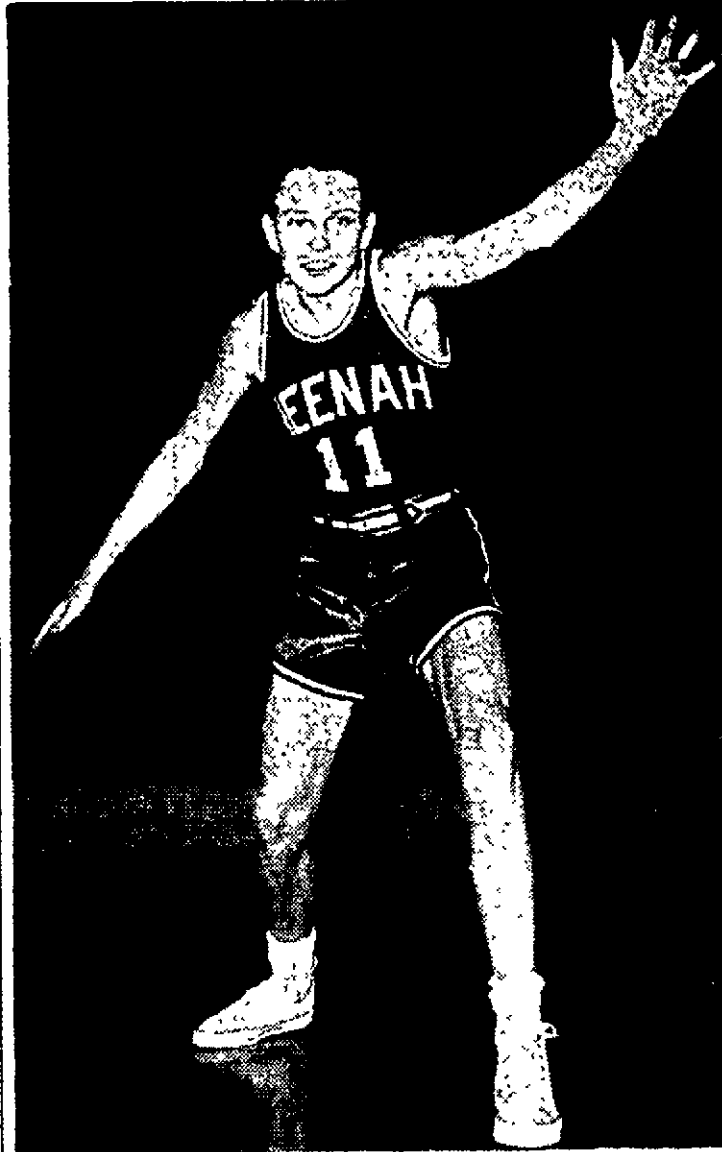

Officers in addition to Sonnentag are Oliver Evans, vice commodore; Mrs. Clarence M. Miller, secretary; Gordon Blank and Robert Pagel, executive board members; Tom Rosenow, cruise chairman; and Clarence M. Miller, publicity chairman.

Celtics Extend Streak to 13

Top Detroit, 136-104; Knickerbockers Turn Back Cincinnati

By the Associated Press

Are the Boston Celtics ever going to lose another National Basketball association game? Sure, but no one in the league is willing to say when.

The champion Celtics stretched their winning streak to 13 games Tuesday night by blasting the Detroit Pistons, 136-104.

The triumph also enabled the Celtics to extend a streak within a streak. This was the tenth game in a row they've won from the Western division clubs.

Now the Celtics are approaching the all-time NBA record for consecutive victories. The record is 18 set by the defunct Washington Capitols in 1946-47.

In the other game of the Detroit doubleheader, the New York Knickerbockers turned back the Cincinnati Royals, 127-119.

Bill Sharman paced the Celtics with 26 points. Bailey Howell had 25 for Detroit.

Colt Linebacker Don Shinnick Intends to Study for Ministry

Baltimore — The tough New York Giants will be playing against a future minister Sunday in the National Football league championship game.

But they aren't to expect him to turn the other cheek. For Don Shinnick is one of the rousing trio of linebackers for the Baltimore Colts.

They are the busiest guys on the field and among the most spectacular because their roaming often brings them into full view of the fans.

Combine Two Shinnick gained a reputation as one of the hardest hitting tacklers on the Colts in his first two years with the pros and this season took on new stature by intercepting seven passes.

Next year he will start studying for the ministry.

BOWLING Delivery Tip

If you've mastered the push-and-swing delivery, you might try the full approach delivery. There is the complete movement for the four-step delivery—footwork, swing and follow-through timed in rhythmic movement. Remember, timing and rhythm are extremely important in bowling and the basic factor of timing is footwork. Everything should be co-ordinated with the movement of your feet on the approach.

Cotton Bowl Grid Game Is Sellout

Dallas, Tex. — The Texas-Syracuse Cotton bowl football game is a sellout. The big Dallas stadium seats 75,504 fans.

Secretary Howard Grubbs of the Cotton Bowl association said the University of Texas sold 17,000 tickets and Syracuse university 6,500. The public bought 30,000 and bondholders 20,000. The rest of the tickets will go to bonds.

Colts and AFL Club Both Announce Signing Of TCU's Don Floyd

Houston, Texas — There appeared to be some question today over who had signed to a pro-contract Don Floyd, Texas Christian All-America tackle.

2 Changes Made in Truck Weight Laws

Madison—Two changes in Wisconsin's truck weight laws were enacted Tuesday.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson's signature on the measures boosts the maximum legal load for trucks 5,000 pounds to a top of 73,000, and reduces penalties imposed for violations due to weight shifts resulting in transit.

The bill increasing the legal truck weight load is similar to one passed earlier by the legislature but does not include the 1,000 pound tolerance to which the governor objected.

Long Weekends
Industries Arrange Holiday Schedules

Most Fox Cities factory employees will have full Christmas and New Year's week-ends off, a survey of the plants indicates.

Only a few heavy industries will require employees' services on the holidays themselves, and most men and women will be able to spend almost all day Christmas eve with their families, not returning to work until Monday morning.

The New Year's day week-end is similar for most workers, although many will not start their holiday until rather late the afternoon of New Year's eve.

Shoots Sister to Death? Thinks She's Prowler
New Orleans —(AP)— A 15-year-old junior high school pupil was shot to death Monday night by her teenage brother who said he mistook her for a prowler.

Police said the shooting apparently stemmed from a prank. They said Calvin Grevenberg, 13, was alone in the Grevenberg home and his sister Shirley and a girl friend were outside making noises and attempting to frighten him.

The boy got his father's .32-caliber pistol, walked to a side door of the house, and fired. The bullet crashed through the door and struck Shirley. Capt. Earl Rolling of the sheriff's office said there had been several reports of prowlers in the neighborhood.

Shares Move Irregularly

Small Gains and Losses Reported On N. Y. Exchange

New York —(AP)—A scattering of issues responded to investment or speculative demand in an irregular stock market early this afternoon.

The major sections of the market were pretty firm on balance although small gains or losses were the rule among pivotal stocks.

Steels, motors, rails, oils, non-ferrous metals and aircrafts were mixed. Drugs continued to show moderate improvement. Rubbers were up a bit. Many electronics issues took small losses. Airlines were steady.

American Tobacco advanced about 2 points on overnight news of a 2-for-1 stock split proposal.

General Time, touted recently in Wall Street, jumped more than 4. High-priced International Business Machines made a 4-point gain, routine for this stock.

Reynolds Metals was up about 3 and Alcoa around 2 as interest in the aluminums revived.

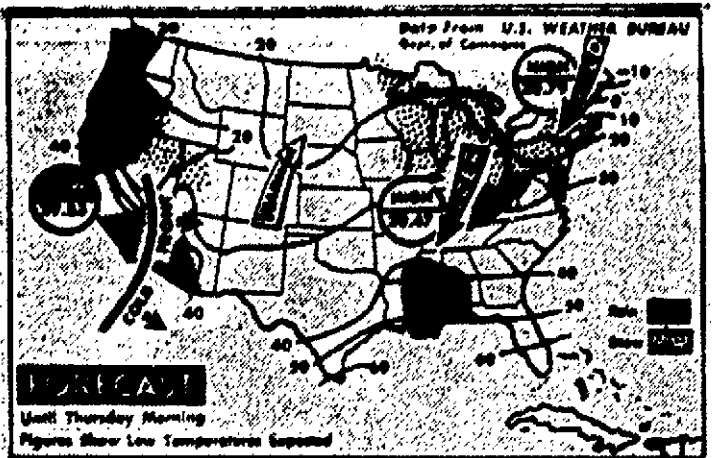

Gains of around a point were made by Goodyear, Du Pont and Pfizer. General Electric was down more than a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 20 cents to $228.20 with the industrials up 40 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

U. S. government bonds rallied mildly.

JOY AT CHRISTMAS

Through the silence of a Holy Night, the shining wonder of Christmas dawns once more upon the world. In Christmas hymns and stories...in the sacred words of the Bible...the miracle of His birth lives again, as awesome, as exalting, as full of hope and promise as on that night when shepherds watched their flocks, and Wise Men followed a Star. Across the ages, His message of Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men comes to bring us joy. At this glorious season, we wish for you and your family a blessed Christmas, rich in spiritual rewards, in happiness and peace.

Season's Greetings and Best Wishes from
